Green Gives Fallout Plan

Worldwide Study Of Radiation

UNITED NATIONS. N.Y. (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green Wednesday outlined Canada's plans for a worldwide study on radiation and its implications for human health.

Stating that the radiation proposal has emerged as one of Canada's main contributions to the 14th United Nations General Assembly, the minister said he hopes for co-sponsorship from 12 or 15 countries in this new move in the problems of the atomic era.

WORLD COLLECTION

Green told Canadian correspondents at a press conference Canada's idea comprises inviting the World Meteorological Organization in consultation with the UN scientific committee to recommend arrangements to ensure the worldwide collection of samples required for determining the amounts and rates of radioactive fallout.

This would include, if necessary, the provision of technical assistance to member states. Canada would urge all states to co-operate with the meteorological organization in this work.

GENUINE CONCERN

Green said in answer to questions it is too early to estimate probable costs but that scientists are generally agreed that the radiation issue is of genuine concern around the world.

In a statement outlining two major objectives, he said the proposal seeks:

"To stimulate worldwide interest in a problem that will be with us through the atomic era and to encourage further scientific investigation into the extent of the hazard it may present.

SOLID BASIS

"To suggest a method by which standardized, comparable data can be acquired to form a solid basis for laboratory research into genetic effects."

Inevitably the proposal was linked to disarmament because of fallout from nuclear tests—now suspended by all the big powers—but Green emphasized it stands alone as an attack on a problem of concern to all mankind.

FIRST ATTEMPT

The proposal was a "first attempt" and would bring together the efforts of the World Meteorological and the UN Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO). The WMO would recommend measures of collection of data on atmospheric fallout and the FAO would assume a similar function in respect to sample of soil and food.

'I'll Preach Against It'

Minister Flays Evil In Son's Pool Win

SOUTHPORT, England (UPI)—A Methodist preacher, whose son won nearly $19,000 in a football pool, said Wednesday he will preach against the winnings next Sunday and that "if I get hold of the money I will throw it away."

Edward Hooton, a gas board clerk who doubles here as local preacher, was horrified by his 18-year-old son Kenneth's winnings.

Kenneth and 23 of his friends at an RAF air base formed a syndicate.

"Half my sermon next Sunday will be devoted to the evils of football pools," said his father.

"I am dead against them and always have been. I don't believe it. My son would never go in for football pools."

Kenneth tried to explain:

'I'll Die for You'

Kassem Tells Iraq

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI)—An assassin fired three bullets at Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem yesterday, hitting him in the shoulder and wounding him slightly. A few hours later Kassem made a speech telling his countrymen, "I am ready to die for you."

The unsuccessful attempt on Kassem's life was made yesterday while he was being driven through a Baghdad street.

A medical bulletin issued several hours after the shooting said the 45-year-old premier suffered only a flesh wound and a fractured shoulder. It said he was struck by "three bullets in non-vital parts of his body."

Shortly after the shooting, the military governor imposed a curfew on the entire city. The attempt came only two weeks after serious riots broke out in Iraq in protest against the execution of 17 persons accused of plotting a revolt against Kassem's 14-month regime.

The proclamation banned demonstrations and gatherings in Baghdad.

New Stand

Red China Wants In At Summit

LONDON (UPI)—Diplomatic observers expressed concern yesterday over official hints that Communist China would insist on participating in any future major negotiations between East and West, including a summit meeting.

An indication of this new stand was provided by Prime Minister Chou En-Lai in a policy review appearing in the Peiping party organ, The People's Daily.

The Chinese leader declared that Peiping "must have the right to participate in any important international issue which concerns her own interests of the world."

Chou did not elaborate, but the wording of his terse comment suggested that Red China now wants a say in all major international issues and not merely in talks concerning her.

Labor Talks 'Rigged'

Provincial Liberal leader Ray Perrault charged yesterday that the current B.C. Federation of Labor convention in Vancouver "was rigged by the ambitious CCF politicians in the labor movement to swing the trade union treasury behind the CCF." (See other stories on Page 3.)

Mr. Perrault was bitter about the news "that a majority of the official delegates of the B.C. Federation of Labor have pledged support to the CCF party for the next B.C. provincial election."

The convention was carefully stage-managed. Speakers included CCF House leader Hazen Argue and other CCF speakers monopolized the convention," Mr. Perrault said. He added that he had attended some of the sessions as an observer, but was not invited to say one word.

Dillon issued the warning in a major speech in which he also read a message from President Eisenhower calling for "constant vigilance" in the Far East to preserve peace.

Dillon spoke before the Far East-America Council of Commerce and Industry.

In a bitter attack on Communist China, he said the Peiping regime has shown "absolutely no disposition to make the slightest move toward an agreement on a cease-fire (in the Formosa Straits), or a renunciation of force."

Dillon noted Soviet Premier

Brains Forecast

Nip, Tuck Election

By S. F. MANOR

Special to The Colonist

LONDON—While lunching at one of the famous colleges at Oxford Tuesday I was allowed a glimpse at the betting book kept in the Common Room, where, at 35 cents a bet, the distinguished professors have forecast today's election results. See page 8.

Only two have forecast a working majority for either party—one a majority of 30 for Conservatives that would halve the present Tory majority and one a majority of 30 for Labor.

All other forecasts were of a stalemate with majorities of six to eight for either party. The highest forecasts for Liberals were of ten and eleven seats both made by prominent Oxford Liberals.

Meanwhile, Wednesday has dawned again sunny, dry and warm, although some rain is promised for today's voting in the western half of the country.

Rain generally means a smaller Labor turnout and there will undoubtedly be fervent prayers for rain in many a marginal Tory constituency.

Attack on Formosa

'Likely' Means A-War

NEW YORK (UPI)—Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon bluntly warned the Chinese Communists yesterday that an attack on Formosa would "likely" start a world nuclear conflict.

Dillon issued the warning in a major speech in which he also read a message from President Eisenhower calling for "constant vigilance" in the Far East to preserve peace.

Dillon spoke before the Far East-America Council of Commerce and Industry.

In a bitter attack on Communist China, he said the Peiping regime has shown "absolutely no disposition to make the slightest move toward an agreement on a cease-fire (in the Formosa Straits), or a renunciation of force."

B.C. Win First Step

By ALEC MERRIMAN

Social Crediters from all over British Columbia have in the past few weeks started grass roots reorganization of all federal constituency associations as a build-up for a determined bid to get Social Credit elected as the official opposition, if not the ruling party in the next general federal election.

And it is felt likely, in some quarters, that Premier W. A. C. Bennett will be sought as national leader to replace Solon Low when the national Social party holds its leadership convention in Ottawa, July 19, 20 and 21.

STRIKING OUT HARD

Although Premier Bennett has said he has no national aspirations, he has in recent months at his press conferences been striking out hard at Prime Minister Diefenbaker's Conservative government, which has led some observers to believe he may be ready to take one of his well-known second looks and allow himself to be drafted as national leader.

Some observers have suggested that the premier hopes to lead his provincial Social party to a resounding victory at the polls sometime next spring. Then, they reason, he would be in a sound position to hand over the provincial reins and concentrate on developing Social Credit on a national scale. Social Credit in the 1958 election lost all its federal seats.

OUT OF THE WEST

"Canada looks to Social Credit leadership out of the west," George Hahn, former Social MP who is now actively engaged in organizing B.C. Socials on the federal level, said yesterday.

He said Premier Bennett and Alberta Premier Manning have both been prominently mentioned for the leadership. But, he added "to the best of my knowledge he (Premier Bennett) has no national aspirations."

FULL SLATE IN B.C.

B.C. Social Credit League president Noel Murphy told The Daily Colonist yesterday "there is no doubt about a full slate in B.C., Alberta, Manitoba and probably Saskatchewan."

He said in Quebec, where Social Credit fielded no candidates in the 1958 general election, Social Crediters "are really going to town."

"There will be a full slate of candidates from Quebec,"

'Nigger' Lyrics Shock Trustee in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — School trustee Joseph Zuken launched an attack Tuesday night on the use of the word "nigger" in a song taught to Grade 7 and 8 students.

He told the school board that the song, "Polly Wolly Doodle," contains the words: "Oh, I came to a river and I couldn't get across, 'cause I jumped on a Nigger 'cause I thought he was a hoss..."

Mr. Zuken said a parent had brought the words to his attention in the authorized text used in Winnipeg schools.

"How can our music department justify the use of such a word?" Mr. Zuken demanded. "It points out the danger of left-over racist connotations within our schools."

He said that one 12-year-old girl had told her teacher she wasn't going to sing the song because it was derogatory to another race, and that her teacher had replied, "I'm three times your age and I'll put you out of the classroom if you don't."

Mr. Zuken gave notice of motion to direct the department of education to remove the verse from the song, and in the meantime to request teachers not to use the verse when teaching the song.

Worse Than 'Rabbits' Wedding'

Black, White Playmates New 'Villains' of Klan

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Alabama Ku Klux Klan says it will try to rid school libraries of another children's book that is "a lot worse than The Rabbits' Wedding."

State Grand Dragon Bobby Shelton said Two is a Team, a story that illustrates white and Negro children playing together, is one of about a dozen books the Klan will campaign against as pro-integration literature.

The Rabbits' Wedding was removed from general circulation after a bitter legislative fight recently. It is a story about the marriage of a black rabbit and a white rabbit.

Two is a Team tells of a Negro boy and a white boy who are playmates. It pictures them visiting each other's home and playing with other children of both races.

'Very Black Eye' Actually Bullet

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — A 42-year-old man was jailed on a drunk charge here Sunday and, except for the fact he had a very black eye, nobody paid any attention.

But yesterday, amazed sheriff's officers said they have found out what caused the black eye: a fresh wound from a .22 calibre bullet which is still lodged in the back of his head.

The man, Andrew Knapp, hadn't said anything about it and for two days had walked around and acted like there was nothing on his mind.

A deputy sheriff who arrested Knapp Sunday said he took him to a doctor who dressed the black eye. When the other eye began to swell Knapp was taken to another doctor, then referred to an eye specialist. This time X-rays showed a bullet lodged in the back of the brain.

CAUSED BY BULLET
The black eye officers thought was suffered in a fight had been caused by the bullet, entering behind his right eye, past the eye muscles and to the back of the head.

Son's Revelations

F.D.R. Preferred Judge to Truman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative James Roosevelt (Dem., Calif.) says his father, Franklin D. Roosevelt, "didn't give a damn" whether Harry Truman was chosen as his running mate in his 1944 bid for a fourth term in the White House.

The eldest son of the late president says he believes his father "really preferred" Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas as the No. 2 man on the ticket.

In a newly-published biography of his father, entitled Affectionately, F. D. R., a Son's Story of a Lonely Man, representative Roosevelt also reports his father "disliked and distrusted deeply" New York's Governor Thomas E. Dewey when Dewey opposed him as the 1944 Republican nominee for president.

Invasion 'Friendly Episode'

NEW DELHI (AP) — In a warm message to Prime Minister Nehru, Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China calls the India-Chinese border dispute "merely an episode in our age-old friendship."

The note was in sharp contrast to one he sent Nehru last month accusing India of "continuing the imperialist policies" of Britain.

Chou's message replied to Nehru's greetings last week on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the founding of the Communist government in China.

Chou said he reciprocated Nehru's "hope and conviction that through joint efforts of both parties, the friendship of the Chinese and Indian peoples will undoubtedly grow continuously in the coming years."

White Man Must 'Pay' For Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. court of claims decided yesterday that a small group of Alaskan Indians are entitled to be paid for more than 20,000,000 acres of land taken from their ancestors by the white man.

Millions of dollars could be involved.

The Indians — about 7,000 of the Tlingit and Haida groups — had sued for compensation for fishing and hunting rights and for the value of the land which their ancestors lost.

Labor to Back CCF to Hilt

BILL BLACK
... no tongue in cheek

VANCOUVER (CP) — The 120,000-member British Columbia Federation of Labor Wednesday pledged full support for the CCF party in the next provincial election. In an unrecorded vote about 350 of the 400 delegates attending the federation's annual convention here approved a committee recommendation of support, including financial, of the party.

CCF leaders have said they expect an election next year but Premier Bennett says he prefers 1961. The federation's political education committee recommended that if a provincial election takes place before a new labor party is formed in Canada "the federation actively work for the election of a CCF government."

The committee also recommended that the 120,000 federation members be asked for a voluntary donation of $1 each to finance this political action. Regular union dues would not be used for political action.

Opinion seemed unanimous that there is an urgency for the good of labor to bring about defeat of B.C.'s present Social Credit government.

Some delegates said the CCF had failed in Ontario, Manitoba and Alberta and would not be successful in B.C.

Charlie Shane of the Tunnel and Rock Workers Union said "If I was to go back to my union and tell them I'd voted for this recommendation, they would crucify me."

Bill Black, president of the federation, speaking as a delegate from the Hospital Workers Union, said the new labor party will be welcomed by the federation.

MUST TAKE STAND

"But we are confronted with an emergency situation in B.C.," he said. "We are going to have an election. Are we going to face this task with our tongue in cheek or are we going to support a party that has some chance to get elected?"

"If we leave this convention saying the CCF merely warrants our support and we are not prepared to do something about it, then we're facing the task with tongue in cheek."

Longer Runways Needed

STRENGTHENING, resurfacing and upgrading the main runways at Patricia Bay airport proceeding this year under contract to the federal government is nearing the point where the airport will be restored to full service with improved facilities. The resumption of night flights by TCA is now in prospect, and soon a substantial part of the current renovations will have been completed. That, unfortunately, will not affect the capacity of the airport to take larger aircraft, as indicated in the case of the trans-Pacific service of CPA. The operators of the latter are willing to route their inbound flights via Victoria but cannot do so due to present limitations at the airport.

There is, of course, a good deal more involved than stops by incoming airplanes on the trans-Pacific route. Patricia Bay is the only airport serving the Greater Victoria area directly. Up to the present its facilities while limited have been at least approximate to the type and class of aircraft used in civilian flight on this seaboard. Now however that is no longer quite true; for not only are the CPA planes being shut out, but also scheduled air carriers on both sides of the international border are beginning to use planes which cannot be set down at Patricia Bay with any prospect of taking off later under full fuel loads.

That constitutes one problem for the immediate future. Up until now Victoria has shared in trans-continental flight on about equal terms with other coast communities. From here on if the runways are not lengthened Patricia Bay could, under certain conditions, recede in importance to a shunt-line service by reason of its restricted flying facilities. While it is difficult for anyone to predict the projection of transport aircraft, it appears to be more likely than not that for a decade at least mass passenger carrying aircraft with multiple jet engines will be coming into service on most established air routes. That has happened on the Pacific and the Atlantic, and the trend is there.

There are those who believe that helicopter service may eventually take over inter-city flight services, but there again the element of time is involved. Massive jet carriers are operating now, and the shuttle-type helicopters are not. The difficulty at Patricia Bay comes down to the essential need of at least one good, all-purpose runway into the prevailing wind which will be long and strong enough to handle all normal types of operating jet airplanes. That involves the relocation of the present airport road, with some problems of its own but not of an insurmountable nature. There is need for action to remove the existing insufficiency in landing facilities at the site.

They See Something

WHEN an object can be directed to hit the moon and another one to take photographs of its underside it would be no wonder if people began to see other things in the sky. Phenomena are rampant these days and not all suspect. From Moscow for instance, a source that must now be respected in the scientific sense, comes the belief that a nuclear explosion of some kind took place over Siberia fifty years ago.

Presumably this was the result of natural action, although the suggestion is that once a civilization thrived on Mars and that a hitherto unperceived force exists in the cosmos. One would not like to say this is the cause of the flying saucers and other eerie objects residents of the Cowichan area are currently reporting. One would not like entirely to scoff either, if only because the skies are still full of mystery even if man is beginning to breach their secrets.

Dr. R. M. Petrie of the Saanich Observatory says it is a pity nobody who spots a cosmic phenomenon has a camera with him when it is in view, and so it is. This has been so often the case with Cadborasaurus, who incidentally must be on a long vacation, but then only press photographers go about with a camera slung constantly over the shoulder. Lack of a photograph does not necessarily belie what people think they see, however. Flying saucers or their ilk have been with us some years now, and while it may be imaginative to fancy the Cowichan objects as space ships on an air-sea rescue mission, science itself has been reluctant to condemn such sightings as purely hallucination.

As Dr. Petrie himself puts it the Cowichan folk are "seeing something." What that something may be is, of course, the mystery. Are some extra-terrestrial bodies beginning to return the compliment as man invades their area? Is there a rational, mundane explanation of the mysterious sightings or is the cosmos about to reveal some of its hidden dynamic forces? Who can tell, as the twentieth-century begins to probe elements hitherto thought eternal and beyond man's reach.

Recipe for Longer Life

IN just a few more days, if no one mars the record—and heaven help the first motorist to do it—the city of Medicine Hat, Alberta, will mark the completion of five years without a single traffic fatality. The number of "deathless days" is revised upward in the front-page masthead of each issue of The Medicine Hat News, which justifiably takes pride in the attainment of a continental traffic safety record, because the unrelenting "deathless days" campaign was inspired by that newspaper almost five years ago.

Out here in Victoria we would count ourselves lucky to get through a single month—a single weekend, for that matter—without a fatal traffic accident. Yet except in the matter of size there is not much difference between the two cities. Medicine Hat does not owe its fine record to the fact that it is an easy city in which to drive; on the contrary the five-year-old safety campaign was initiated partly because it is a difficult city for drivers, with peculiar traffic problems which had been pushing up the accident rate.

Medicine Hat's recipe for public safety is no secret. The simple ingredients are a civic objective and community will to attain and preserve it. The recipe costs nothing, and is available to any city wishing to try it.

Interpreting the News

Steel Crisis Urgent

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE lengthy and costly United States steel strike now has reached the climactic stage where some vital decision likely will be concluded in a matter of days.

Either intense negotiations will lead management and labor into a settlement of their own, or the government is almost certain to step in with a Taft-Hartley court injunction, forcing the steel men back to the mills for a "cooling off" period of 80 days.

The Taft-Hartley injunction is far from a perfect instrument in the settlement of strikes. Experience has shown that in many cases it merely postpones or stretches out strikes instead of ending them.

For under the law there is nothing to prevent workers from walking out again after the 80-day period is over. And the stand of a union member forced back to work against his will might become embittered and hardened to the point where the strike is prolonged instead of shortened.

But there are political and psychological advantages to a back-to-work order that would appeal to the government. In the present 12-week steel strike, the administration is under increasing pressure to get steel moving into industry and to plug the economic drain of human and mechanical resources.

In the 12 weeks, the strike is estimated to have cost about $4,500,000,000 in wage and production losses. Some of these losses may be recovered in a stepped-up production later; but a good portion of them may be lost forever.

While a back-to-work injunction is in effect, labor and management must make intensive efforts at new negotiations. Possibly agreement might be reached while the men are in the mills instead of in the streets.

"THAT'S ABOUT THE SILLIEST STATEMENT I'VE EVER READ!"

Thinking Aloud

Peter Stursberg

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

ONE thing we must admit and that is that Prince Philip is very solicitous of our physical fitness.

When he was visiting us this summer, you remember, he suggested to the Canadian Medical Association that Canadians might be somewhat sub-healthy. Now he has written to a Manitoba convention asking if there is any improvement.

The Prince is perhaps rather impatient. If Canadian manhood was falling apart three months ago he is not giving it much time to recuperate. One needs a year at least to put on new muscles.

As a polo player Philip is always in the pink of condition, or seems to be even if his hands-behind-the-back habit gives him a lethargic air. Not many Canadians can play polo, of course, even if they wanted to. Some take to skates instead, and only the other night I observed a flock of youngsters coming from the Arena, rosy-cheeked and glowing with health. If there was anything the matter with them appearances are deceptive.

Appearances are, in any event. If you saw the Cougars in mufti, for instance, unpadding and just walking like ordinary mortals you'd probably never think they were the same hefty, hardy chaps you see on the ice. And, too, if you adopt a sidewalk superintendent's role and watch ditch-diggers at work you learn that heftiness is no criterion of strength. Some thin-armed fellow might be the best digger of them all.

A war more than anything else shows up physical fitness and any army offers the variety that makes health judgments precarious. There are always the fat and the lean, big and little soldiers, and judging by results to date they all do their bit fairly well.

Canadians are addicted to car riding instead of walking and perhaps this does something to their insides, makes them sub-healthy. I don't know. I have facetiously suggested myself that some day their legs will drop off for lack of use. I don't really expect them to, however. We don't win many Olympic gold medals but offhand I'd think Canadian youth was as healthy as any other national youth. Certainly when I was over in Britain last year I received no impression of any greater physical fitness than I see around me every day. Nor, for that matter, when I was across the line last month.

Still and all it is a compliment to have a royal duke worrying about our health. Lots of people come to see us and apparently don't care a button whether we're fit or not. We should feel flattered, I suppose, and jack ourselves up a bit; perhaps follow the TV ads. But then these are so contrary we might drink the wrong seltzer and have a tummy-ache.

How the Manitoba medical men will ally the Prince's fears I don't know, but they couldn't go far wrong by suggesting they think that Canadians will manage to scrape through all right.

(Editor's Note: Gerald Waring is in Spain. During his absence his column is being conducted by Peter Stursberg, Canadian journalist and commentator.)

A new system of agricultural subsidies, called "deficiency payments," has gone into effect this month. As a result, it is being said that certain foodstuffs such as eggs may be cheaper—which sounds like a Canadian consumer wishfully speaking, or wistfully.

For the purpose of this move is the same as that of any other price support scheme: to help the small farmer and keep him going. Only, it is meant to do this without building up huge surpluses.

Instead of the government buying up a commodity to maintain its price, it is now going to pay the producer the difference between what he gets and the support price. The old method led to bulging warehouses and accumulations that threatened the market; under the new scheme, the government does not acquire anything, except headaches.

Deficiency payments apply to eggs now, will apply to hogs later. There is a limit to payments. For any single producer, the government will make up the difference on only 4,000 dozen eggs a year, or the number laid by a flock of 400 to 500 hens. Thus, it can be seen that this new system, like the old, is designed to help the small farmer.

Agricultural price supports always raise the question of why the government plays favorites. Why does it give aid and comfort to the small farmer and not show the same concern for the small businessman, the small shopkeeper, even the small newspaper proprietor?

There is a mystic about agriculture. It has been said that the farmer is a more important member of society than the shopkeeper. The literature of one farm organization tries to make out that the family farm is the foundation of democracy. Apparently, Europeans accept this mystic, and try to keep as many people on the land as possible.

However, such an attitude is largely political—there is no sound reason for it—and farmers carry a great deal more weight politically than other sections of the populace.

In spite of price supports, agricultural experts here say small farmers are disappearing. However, they must keep some of them going, otherwise it is difficult to understand why the supports are maintained. They certainly do not benefit the majority of the people.

If the price supports were lifted, and the ordinary laws of supply and demand were allowed to take their course, there is no doubt that food would be cheaper. Furthermore, there is never any likelihood of any producer getting a monopoly of any staple commodity, and thus being able to set the price.

According to a leading agricultural authority here, the price supports were originally meant as a "shock absorber" to make it easier for farmers to move to a more efficient operation. The first price supports act, passed in 1944, was to help farmers make the transition from wartime to peacetime conditions, and said so.

Thus, price supports were started as a temporary expedient, but like so many temporary things—like the temporary buildings in Ottawa which are now 20 years old—they have become more or less permanent. They have become a vested interest for farm groups.

Not only the Conservative government but all political parties are pledged to price supports—so there is little likelihood of their disappearing.

At present, the trend is toward deficiency payments, as the government experts here consider that they do the least harm to the normal operation of economy.

They certainly do not result in unsaleable surpluses, but they do mean more clerks to handle the individual payments—five times as many as before.

The Myth of Good Looks

By GREGORY CLARK

ONE of the great wrongs done to our generation and the upcoming one is the responsibility of the movies and TV. They have promoted the myth that heroes are good-looking.

In the preceding generation the greatest actors were men like Forbes Robertson, George Arliss, John Drew. There was nothing good-looking about these men: Forbes Robertson was as gaunt as Don Quixote; Arliss appeared to be cross-eyed; John Drew had a big nose. Long before the era of movies, they portrayed for us the heroes of the literature of the drama. They portrayed the truth. Heroes are hardly ever good-looking.

As a reporter for goodness knows how many years I covered a thousand stories of heroism. In the two wars I had the opportunity to study the heroic at first hand, close up. And I must confess that in all that time I never encountered a good-looking hero.

Having just come from a movie in which John Wayne played the faultless hero, I tried to recollect any John Waynes among all the heroes I have seen. There wasn't one. The John Waynes I have known were always on the sidelines, applauding. But the characters in the middle of the ring, whether disaster or battle, were hard, homely men who looked more like Forbes Robertson, George Arliss and John Drew—lanky men, fat men, modest men, with never a trace of the airs or arrogance of courage.

Unlike the heroes of movie and TV, the real heroes of this world not only don't know they are heroes, they don't even look like it.

Washington Angle

Gloomy Diplomats

By MARQUIS CHILDS

SCRATCH a diplomat in Washington today and you are very likely to find a pessimist. President Eisenhower's breathtaking adventure in personal diplomacy in his meeting with Premier Khrushchev has left much of the diplomatic corps puzzled and gloomy over the future.

One reason may be a professional distrust of person-to-person encounters at the highest level and the uncertainty of the verbal agreements that come out of such encounters. They fly in the face of the canons of diplomacy, which demand that agreements be tied up in precise, lawyer-like language.

But more than professional jealousy is behind the mood of skepticism and doubt reflected by many diplomats with whom this reporter has talked. They are almost all in agreement that the Khrushchev visit was necessary and even desirable. If it was an inevitable development growing out of the crisis over Berlin.

What troubles them is the prospect that the Soviets will in the end get their way, with the West yielding over Berlin and other major issues. The visit, interpreted in many parts of the world as a concession, will be followed by other concessions to the unremitting pressure of Communism over the years.

This is by no means, however, a unanimous opinion. What is striking is the way the pessimists and the optimists divide over the future in the era of a better atmosphere (about which almost no one disagrees) that has now been opened up. Here are the two perspectives—the viewers with alarm and the viewers with at least moderate hope.

The Pessimists:

In the long higgly-haggle of negotiation over months and years the West will in effect yield on Berlin. Some form of the Communist "free city" will be established and the rights of the West Berliners will be whittled away. The effect will be to weaken the North Atlantic Alliance and encourage the spread of neutralism.

On disarmament the sweeping Khrushchev proposal before the United Nations will be seen for what it really was—a propaganda gesture. When it comes to actual negotiation for disarming in the 10-nation committee the same old tactics of stalling on minor points of inspection and control will prevail. Ultimate failure will be blamed on the West and the Russian people will be told they cannot have the consumer goods promised them because the Western powers refuse to disarm.

The prestige of Khrushchev has been greatly enhanced by the visit. This is particularly true in Asia where the Soviet premier's triumphal tour is put on top of the Sputniks and the lunks to show that the West is no longer invulnerable. European diplomats cite a speech by Philippine Ambassador Carlos P. Romulo who told an audience in New York that the United States was today seriously challenged by the Soviet Union.

Communist parties both in Europe and in Asia have been emboldened by the reception of Khrushchev in the United States to demand respectability and acceptance. In Indonesia when President Sukarno was criticized for addressing a Communist rally he replied that if Eisenhower could receive Khrushchev, surely he could speak to representatives of the Communist party in his own country.

The Optimists:

With patient negotiations a new formula will be found for West Berlin, thereby ending a situation which both sides agree is "abnormal." It will insure the freedom of the West Berliners and even more important it will underwrite the access of civilian traffic to and from the city which is not now covered by any agreement.

Progress will be slow in disarmament, since the new 10-nation committee will have to review what has gone before and survey both the Russian and the British proposals put before the UN. Before the end of the year an agreement to stop nuclear tests with inspection and control should be reached. In any event, neither side will start testing again.

But most hopeful of all are the various projects now in process of being carried out for closer co-operation between the United States and the Soviet Union. In the peacetime uses of atomic energy, in medicine and in other fields these projects have been given a great impetus by the Khrushchev visit. As this knitting together takes place political agreements on the tough issues are bound sooner or later to come.

What emerges from both viewpoints is that the course of action from here on is all-important. The most stern and serious negotiation still lies ahead after a small beginning based on the mutual recognition that nuclear war is suicide.

Letters to the Editor

Unfair Levy

Previous to the recent "improvements" we ratepayers on Shelbourne Street between North Dairy and Cedar Hill Cross Road had a very good asphalt roadway, quite ample for our needs. We, however, had no curb or sidewalk.

Now, under a five-year plan, our part of Shelbourne, approximately one mile long, has been used as a sort of trial balloon for future road policy.

First, the then Saanich public works committee and planners tore up the good existing road and, under the local improvement plan, put curbs and a four-lane black top highway. They call the extra width on each side a parking strip. To cover the cost they are assessing the Shelbourne Street property owners the sum of $26 a year, on 65-foot lots, for 20 years, under the term "local improvement." Still, there is, as yet, no sidewalk.

By comparison, the residents in the city part of Shelbourne Street, south of North Dairy Street, are being assessed approximately the same amount of taxes for curb and sidewalk. Their roadway portion is assessed as it should be, namely under general revenue. That is the fairest way to assess local residents. The roadway is for the common use of all people in Greater Victoria; sidewalks are mainly for local use.

Recently one of the members of the works committee made a sort of half promise that "some part" of the sidewalks would be installed at no cost to the local ratepayers. Actually, the assessment now being collected should be adjusted to apply entirely on the actual cost of curb and sidewalk and the roadway cost should be charged to general revenue.

Scrambled Names

B.C. Telephone Company pulled a real boner by abbreviating the streets in the telephone book. This is a cheap way to save a few dollars.

The subscribers are entitled to the service they pay for and should not have to decipher a jumble of letters that is supposed to be the name of a street. If the telephone company thinks this is such a good idea, why not abbreviate the names of the subscribers as well? Then it would be a mess.

Hunting 'Accidents'

Why does our law not give the hunter some protection? Does our government not want to protect its revenue? Last year alone over $250,000 was spent in ordinary hunting licences in B.C. This does not include special or non-resident fees.

I have talked to many hunters on Vancouver Island who used to enjoy hunting but never go any more, as they are afraid of being shot.

In over 40 years' hunting in deer country, I have yet to see a man who looks like a deer, bear, duck, squirrel, or any other game animal. Yet every year hunters are being mistaken for such animals, according to the testimony of those who shot them.

What is the difference between a true sportsman and the trigger-happy hunter? Just this: the sportsman will observe the game laws, for after all they will benefit him by conservation methods to make hunting a sport to be enjoyed indefinitely; while the careless and indifferent hunter, who shoots to satisfy his lust to kill, will shoot most anything he sees moving in the woods, and sometimes it is another hunter.

In our hunting so far this season, in a very small area, we have seen two dead fawns and one white goat. What must the score of wasted game be through the province? Why should so few spoil so much for so many?

Progress Slow in Discussions Of Columbia by U.S., Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian-American talks on co-operative development of the Columbia River are making slow progress, it was indicated Wednesday at the halfway point of weeklong discussions.

Two sessions of the International Joint Commission's regular meeting—one of two held each year—have been devoted so far to the Columbia and more are expected.

Canada now ships considerable quantities of lard in liquid form to the United Kingdom.

CLC Link

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—An independent logger's union formed to replace locals of a Canadian Labor Congress affiliate will seek affiliation with the CLC's Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, it was announced Wednesday.

Members of the 13,000-member Newfoundland Brotherhood of Woods-Workers (Ind.) authorized their executive to seek affiliation in a resolution passed at the union convention in Grand Falls last week.

Genn Asks Clarification

K. R. Genn has asked for clarification of statements attributed to him in Tuesday's Colonist.

Mr. Genn said he is not opposed to views expressed by J. R. Genge of the Victoria advisory planning commission (and wrongly attributed to Mr. Genn). However, as one connected with Saanich town planning, Mr. Genn pointed out, he has no right to advise city council.

If You See a Flying Saucer —Please Take a Picture

DUNCAN — Attention, saucer spotters: Next time you see something that could be a flying saucer, please take a picture of it!

So far in the Cowichan area more than 20 persons have seen unidentified flying objects but none have taken pictures of them.

A check last night by the Colonist only revealed that there weren't any photos, it also brought to light three more persons who saw the mysterious objects.

The quest for a picture started after Dr. R. M. Petrie, head of the Dominion Astro-

physical Observatory at Saanich, commented Tuesday that Cowichan residents are "seeing something" but that it was "too bad" no pictures had been taken.

V. L. Stanley-Jones, Richard's Trail, said last night that such comments make people reluctant to reveal what they may see.

"If someone saw a space ship and saw its passengers, we on earth would be scared stiff of saying what we saw in case we were thrown in the booby hatch," he said yesterday.

Mr. Stanley-Jones also said

Attention Cowichan!

he expects some "authority" will eventually stop the Colonist's reports on the sightings.

The latest reports came from Raymond Smith, Cowichan Station, and his mother, Yvonne, and a sister, Sonia, who saw "many-colored" objects but kept quiet because they anticipated unfavorable public opinion.

They saw an object about 2:30 p.m. Sept. 27. It was the morning after Mr. Stanley-Jones reported what he thought could have been two space-ships collide and crash over Richard's Mountain.

"It was two or three times the size of any star and sort of flashed red, purple and blue colors, one after the other," said Mr. Smith. "I almost drove off the road when I saw it." He was returning from a party.

He woke his mother and sister who watched it "hover"

in the sky for about an hour south of them. They said they went inside while the object was still in view, and went to bed.

Three days later, L. F. Solly, of Westholme, said he saw an "orange-red" object which was joined by many others, that moved south at varying speeds.

At Chemainus R. W. Clegg, a night watchman at the British Columbia Power Commission generating plant at Bare Point, also saw the objects. More than 15 persons have so far reported seeing "objects" in the sky the same evening.

Increase Asked by Teachers May Cost Cowichan $115,020

DUNCAN — Teachers in School District 85 (Cowichan) have asked for salary increases for next year that would cost taxpayers $115,020, trustee Wilf Peck said yesterday.

Mr. Peck said that the requested increase of salaries for principals as well as teachers—would be about 18.6 per cent over last year's wages.

He said it would add about three mills to the school taxes. The increase would not be shareable with the provincial government, said Mr. Peck.

Tourists Worth Billion

Within 10 years British Columbia's tourist industry will be valued at $1,000,000,000 a year, Premier Bennett predicted yesterday.

He said it would be larger than the lumber industry and would be B.C.'s biggest industry. It is now rated at a little more than $100,000,000 a year.

$200,000 A YEAR

The premier was enthusiastic about the government-operated Sidney-Taswassen ferry service scheduled to start next spring and said the provincial government through the Toll Bridges and Highways Authority will be subsidizing it by about $200,000 a year, and by a proportionately greater amount when new ferries are added to the service.

He said he wouldn't bother asking the federal government for a subsidy, although he claimed it was their duty to pay one. They just take money from B.C. They give no help at all," he said.

Speed Up Checks

Canada Abolishes Border Permits

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians entering the United States on pleasure trips no longer have to fill out automobile customs permits at the border.

A revenue department spokesman said Wednesday night the permits have been abolished in a move to streamline and speed up operations at border points.

The change was effective Oct. 1 at border points across the country. Prior to that date travellers to the U.S., on leaving Canada, declared the accessories carried on their cars.

They were handed forms on which to check off such items as heater, radio, spotlight. This was so they would not be assessed duty on the accessories when re-entering Canada.

The revenue department spokesman emphasized that visitors to the U.S. are subject to the same customs regulations as previously, but now enforcement will be exclusively by visual inspection.

For several weeks, he said, there has been a concerted effort to abolish red tape at the borders and "sharpen things up for travellers going both ways."

"There has been such an increase in traffic something had to be done to speed matters," he said. The change will help eliminate traffic jams at the busiest border crossings.

Like War Beachhead

Quake Blasted Alaskan Harbor

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The scene that greeted us was one of utter desolation. All along the shore were trees stripped of bark and branches thrown one over the other.

"The ground had been churned up and moved about much as if a huge bulldozer had been working ashore."

This could have been a wartime beachhead or even a sea-side stripped by real estate developers. It was neither.

Quite the contrary, this was an isolated Alaskan harbor which, on the night of July 9, 1958, was rocked by an earthquake virtually as severe as the one that, with fire, destroyed San Francisco in 1906.

Ever since the quake, scientists here have wondered just what happened.

To get some of the answers, the coast and geodetic survey sent an expedition to the bay last summer. The leader of this undertaking, Cmdr. H. J. Seaborg, is just back from Lituya and the description of the devastated bay is his official report.

Impaired But Careful

NANAIMO—Albert Fraser Butterworth was fined only $75 yesterday for impaired driving.

The comparatively small fine was imposed because Butterworth, aged 24, parked beside the curb at Milton and Nicol Street, Magistrate Harold Hine told him.

"You showed an appreciation to the public by pulling over," the magistrate said. He suspended Butterworth's licence for 10 days.

Tether-Ball Rope

Hanging Tragedy Avoided

EUGENE, Wash. (AP) — A teacher glanced out a window at a grade school here Wednesday and saw a youth dangling from a pole on the playground, a rope around his neck.

The teacher and others rescued the boy and revived him with artificial respiration.

Later, doctors at a hospital here said Eddie Fitch, 12, was in good condition.

Authorities said the tether-ball rope wrapped around the youth's neck accidentally as he played on the school grounds.

Insulting Signs Bring Fines

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man and two women were fined $5 each in police court here Wednesday for posting signs on city lamp poles, which read: "Red Dog! Khushchev go home!"

The signs were posted during the recent U.S. visit of the Russian leader. Charges were laid under a city sign bylaw.

Possible Threat To TV Cowboys Election Issue

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — The make-believe cowboys of television became real issues Wednesday in Britain's general election.

London's pro-Conservative Daily Sketch triggered off the deadly charge that a Labor victory today would wipe the Western heroes from British TV screens.

And that, podner, is real political dynamite. Even over here in this gentle land of tea and crumpets.

"A vote for Labor will seal the fate of independent television," the Sketch declared. "In place of Westerns and gay shows, the socialist do-gooders will impose their own brand of so-called culture . . .

"They sneered at the lack of culture in the programs and demanded fewer leg shows and Westerns, an end to give-away quiz shows and shorter broadcasting hours."

Down the full length of a page the paper printed a picture of James Arness, elongated hero of Gun Smoke.

"The Socialists are gunning for him," the Sketch told its readers. "Will you let them ban this?"

8 Daily Colonist Victoria, B.C., Thurs., Oct. 8, 1959

Bubble car is ideal for electioneering in Britain's narrow streets, and Mrs. Llewelyn Davies, Labor candidate for the Wandsworth area, finds she can get around rapidly to talk to voters.

Macmillan Is Favorite

But Fractional Group of Voters Will Decide Result

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's hectic general election campaign thundered to a close last night with the experts predicting victory for Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservatives.

Both the Conservatives and the Labor party confidently predicted victory but political experts said the outcome could hinge on a tiny fraction of the total registered vote.

Macmillan wound up his election campaign with a renewed demand for a summit conference and told wildly cheering fellow-Conservatives, "We will win."

"Let us seize the opportunity which has now come to us and for which we have worked so hard, and which may be the first break in this kind of ice-jam between East and West," Macmillan told an election eve rally at suburban Hammer-smith.

Macmillan, his voice husky after his 2,500-mile electioneering tour, brushed aside persistent heckling by Laborites in the crowd. Then, turning to cheering, hand-clapping supporters he predicted victory.

The crowd, mainly middle class housewives, broke into cheers and singing "For he's a jolly good fellow."

Macmillan's campaign manager, Lord Hailsham, at his news conference yesterday refused to make any public predictions.

Labor's secretary and campaign manager, Morgan Phillips predicted the Labor party would win with a working majority in the new House of Commons if polling is high.

The main headache not only for the two big parties but also for the small Liberal splinter group remained the question mark of millions of "don't know" voters. They have been estimated as high as 18 to 20 per cent of the 35,000,000 registered voters.

All indications were that the two big parties were so closely matched that a complete deadlock between them might ensue.

Everything was expected to turn on the results in 50 to 100 so-called "marginal" constituencies which one or other of the two parties captured by majorities of less than 2,000 votes in 1955.

Tories Banking on Rawhide

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — Election notebook:

What is the greatest gift the Conservative party could receive in the British election?

R. T. McKenzie, the Canadian expert on British votes, says the biggest bonanza would be a rip-snorting television program between 7 and 9 p.m. tonight.

That's when Labor supporters mostly do their voting, and the theory is that a counter-attraction on TV would keep all but the most militant away from the polls.

One scheduled lure is Rawhide, popular American serial about cattle rustlers.

If TV fails, rain might do the trick. True-blue Tories would trek through a torrent, but supposedly less ardent Labor supporters might stay at home.

The weatherman forecasts a slight drizzle. Labor's hope, of course, is that tonight they'll be home and dry.

It's hard not to root quietly for Mrs. Alice Pearce, Liberal candidate in Bristol East. She has sold her wedding presents to raise part of the £150 deposit required from each candidate.

Oldest candidate in the election is Labor's 88-year-old David Logan, defending the Scotland division of Liverpool. He says he can still run faster than men half his age. Sir Winston Churchill, at 84 is next in point of age. Youngest candidate is Stephen Rubin, a 21-year-old Liberal running in Streatham, a London constituency.

Commonest election joke is about the Tory who switched to Labor on his deathbed because "it's better to lose one of them than one of us."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

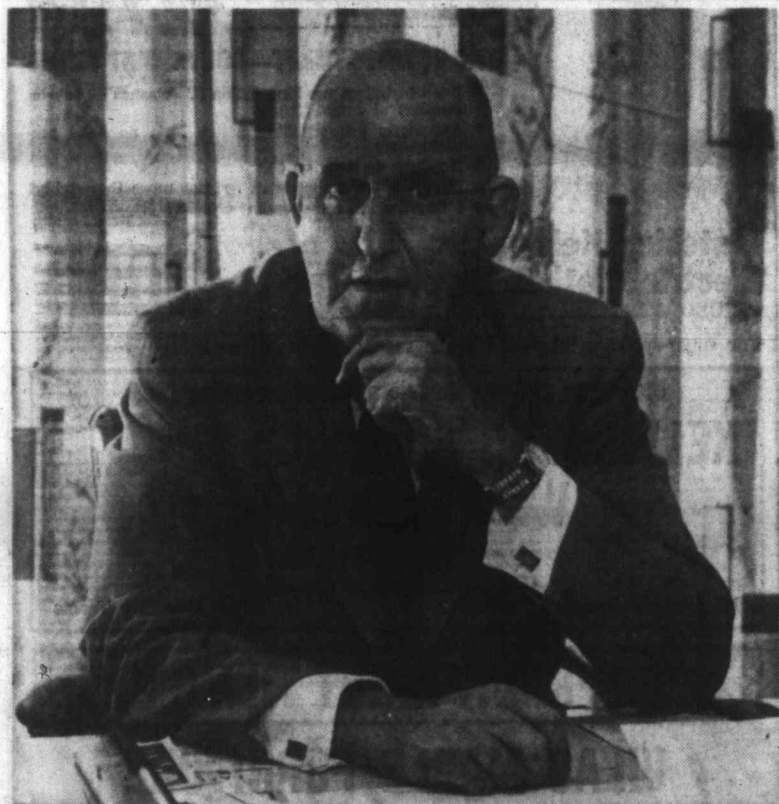

TAKE NOTICE that the public hearings regarding the management of the area near Squamish, B.C., under application by Empire Mills Ltd., will be continued in the rehearsal room of the Queen Elizabeth Theatre (entrance by stage door, Cambie Street), Vancouver, B.C., on Tuesday, October 13th, 1959, at 11.00 o'clock in the forenoon.

F. G. HART,
Commission Secretary.

Two to Receive Scholarships

Sheila Ryves, Victoria and district winner of the Canadian Legion-Sir Percy Lake scholarship will receive her award at a meeting of the Esquimalt Legion at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Esquimalt Legion Hall, 622 Admirals Road.

Catherine Malda, the West Kootenay district winner, will receive her scholarship at the same ceremony. Both girls are now attending Victoria College.

Touring Prince Says Here:

'Filthy Puddings' Not Enough For Thai Trade

The world would be a better place without two things, Thailand's jaunty Prince Viwat said in his Empress Hotel suite last night—rice pudding and Khrushchev.

Canadians might be more interested in trade with Thailand if they didn't confine their use of rice mainly to pudding making.

RUSSIAN BLAMED

He blamed the Russian leader for most of the unrest in the world and said he was not convinced of the effectiveness of Khrushchev's U.S. visit as a means to ease world tension.

"I think he learned that the American people don't like him."

TRAVEL IN TAXIS

"He should have travelled in New York taxis. The drivers would have told him they didn't like him."

Looking more like 45 than his 60 years, the Thailand representative on the board of governors of the International Monetary Fund stepped off a TCA flight from Seattle here yesterday accompanied by his wife, Princess Bhadana, his niece, Princess Suddhawongse, and his secretary, Sajisevi Bua.

HERE AS TOURIST

"I am here just as a tourist," the prince said in his impeccable English.

"All over the world, on ships and everywhere, people have told us we must see British Columbia. So we have come to British Columbia."

'NEW LOOK'

Looking more like a statesman than the Asian potentate image created by Yul Brynner, Prince Viwat is the embodiment of the "new look" an a country which not so many years ago produced the original version of "The King and I."

LITTLE GROUND

Yesterday, fresh from a Washington meeting of the World Bank, the prince expressed regret that there was little ground for Canada-Thailand trade.

"We export rice and you do not eat it . . . or when you do eat rice you probably make it into that filthy rice pudding."

'DON'T EAT WHEAT'

"You export wheat and we don't eat wheat."

"We do buy a little of your fish, I think, in tins, and just after the war I believe we sold you some zircons."

NOT CONCERNED

Thailand, which borders on Laos, currently an Asian hot spot of Communist infiltration and unrest, is not overly concerned about Red aggression, the prince said.

"China is big enough and she has plenty of problems already," he said.

NO INTERNAL REDS

But equally important, Thailand has no internal Communist organization, the country's one-time finance minister explained.

"The Siamese own their own land, and of the many Chinese we have, a large part are merchants . . . merchants are not Communists."

WATCH LABORERS

"But of course some of the Chinese are laborers and I suppose it is the laborers that we should watch."

Between Thailand and Red China, the prince continued, are buffer states—Laos, Cambodia, Burma.

BUFFERS 'NICE'

"It is always nice to have buffers . . . then you can fight in their country instead of your own."

"You Canadians fight in France."

Peering out his hotel window at one point into a murky Victoria sky, the prince suddenly laughed and said, "In Thailand we have a very simple climate.

"You know it will rain for six months and that it won't rain for six months."

"For that reason we have no need for forecasters."

TAX HOLIDAY

"To attract capital we have set up the 'tax holiday.'"

"To new industries we offer free import on machinery, no income tax for five years and no restriction on withdrawal of profits."

The prince and princess will spend today sightseeing throughout the Victoria area before flying to Vancouver tomorrow and to the Orient after that.

SAO PAULO, Brazil — A rhinoceros named Cacareco—a write-in candidate—has piled up a runaway lead over all other candidates in the Sao Paulo municipal elections.

Election officials estimated that Cacareco would have 110,000 votes when the tabulations are complete. Mayor Ademar de Barros' Social Progresssives, with more than 44,000 votes, are out in front of other political parties.

Cacareco's ballots aren't being counted, but officials said there have been 110,000 invalidated ballots and estimated as many as 80 per cent of them were for the rhinoceros.

NEW YORK — Judge Samuel Leibowitz has been given an around-the-clock police guard after complaining to the police commissioner's office about receiving threatening telephone calls over his proposal that immigration in to New York be discouraged as a means of combatting juvenile crime.

NEW YORK — Small-time

hoodlum Anthony (Bang-Bang) Brandolino is in critical condition after being shot seven times from a moving car in a Brooklyn street.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor James Mitchell says the International Labor Organization is an "important anti-Communist influence in the world."

LONDON — Princess Alexandra arrived home from her 35,000-mile, nine-week tour of Australia and the Far East.

HEREFORD, England — Lt.-Gen. Sir Sidney Clive, marshal of the British diplomatic corps for 11 years up to 1945 and a distinguished soldier, died in a fire at his home. He was 83.

THOMASTON, Me. — Rev. Arthur Macdougald, 62, the "fishing parson" convicted of raping a 14-year-old girl, began a 10 to 20-year term in the Maine state prison.

ISLE OF RHODES, Greece — Archbishop Makarios and Cypriot resistance leader Gen. George Grivas "settled all misunderstandings" between them during a 5½-hour private conference here.

WASHINGTON — Yale Professor Chung Shu Kwei has invented an inexpensive photo process to speed up the printing of 7,500 Chinese language characters for newspapers, books publishers and others.

TORONTO — Dr. Marcus Long, University of Toronto professor of philosophy, says the CBC was being destroyed because too many politicians are concerned about their political prospects.

DENVER — Washington temperance leader W. A. Schaffenberg says Americans hurt the United States' reputation abroad, and weaken industrial power at home, by drinking too much. "Our race for space too often is a race for elbow room at the cocktail table," he said.

Announcing NEW 1960 FORD TRUCKS

...with CERTIFIED ECONOMY!

Here's exciting new proof that '60 Ford Trucks can save you money!

Here are the 1960 Ford Trucks . . . the trucks that have already "shown their stuff" in intensive tests run by North America's foremost independent automotive engineering research group. These experts certified test results which prove 1960 Ford Truck Certified Economy!

Key components, like brakes, clutch and frame, stood up to equivalent of years of on-the-job service. That's Certified Durability! For example, the 1960 Pickup frame was certified to have 23.6% greater rigidity, for a stronger frame and longer Pickup life.

Individual parts were tested in labs and in actual operation . . . and from these tests came proof of 1960 Ford Truck Certified Durability. The new Ford wiring, for instance, will serve you three times longer than old-style assemblies!

There are new engine changes which mean the 1960 Ford Trucks will give you the maximum in power and mileage from every gallon of gasoline you use. For example, the Ford light duty "Six", the engine that gave better gas mileage than all the other five makes tested in last summer's Economy Showdown, has been further refined to give you even better economy. That's Certified Gas Savings.

See your local Ford Dealer for the widest choice of engine-axle-transmission combinations in Ford Truck history. He'll help you select the right combination of components to give you a truck that's best suited to your line of work.

'Boys Only' Smoking Area Set Aside by High School

CHATHAM, Ont. (UPI)—High school principal Gordon Quigley told an advisory committee reports were true—he had set aside a reserved smoking area on the school grounds so that male students could smoke openly, rather than on the sly.

He said girls were warned off.

Little Businesses Set

The first major step toward a junior achievement program for city high-schools will be taken Oct. 23 when Victoria businessmen gather at a luncheon briefing sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Guest speaker at the meeting will be Roy P. Twyman, executive director of the B.C. Junior Achievement program.

Under the program, students in the various schools form small corporations, each sponsored by a city firm. Each group picks a product, incorporates, and sells shares at 50 cents each.

Letters have been sent out to city businessmen asking them to attend the meeting at the Pacific Club at 12.15, when Mr. Twyman will explain the plan in detail and answer any questions.

There are three junior achievement programs in operation in Canada—in Vancouver, New Westminster and Windsor, Ont.

Suites Win Postal Aid

OTTAWA (UPI)—The post office yesterday announced changes in delivery of special types of mail to help apartment dwellers and cut down on "one of the most serious areas of customer complaint". In the past, the resident's failure to be in when the postman called sometimes involved lengthy delays. Postmen now will be required to deliver the special mail articles to individual apartments instead of ringing the call bell or leaving a notice that the mail would be delivered on the next call. A change was also announced in the delivery of large parcels delivered by truck and not collected. The addressee will be alerted of the delivery so that the parcel would be available at the post office.

Space Stocks Find Favor At New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Electronic and missile shares were an otherwise mixed and moderately active stock market.

Aircrafts also advanced with gains of 1 or 2 better in North American Aviation and Cessna. Boeing and Douglas tacked on fractions. Thiokol in the rocket fuels featured with a gain of nearly 3.

General Tire with its Aerojet subsidiary rose with the rocket fuels in earlier dealings but subsequently eased on profit-taking.

Electronics stood out in the list with Zenith up more than 2, and Texas Instruments, Litton, Raytheon, Motorola, General Time and Beckman. IBM continued under pressure and was off more than 2.

Lukens featured a generally easier stock section with a rise of about 1 1/2.

Schenley, an active issue, lost more than 3.

U.S. treasury bonds continued firm but most interest centred on the new 5 percent notes due Aug. 15, 1964.

Mack Truck tacked on more than a point in the motors and Studebaker-Packard a fraction. GM, Ford and Chrysler slipped by fractions.

Vick in the drugs rose more than 2. Spencer more than 2. Ralls and oils were mixed on balance.

Volume Declines

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market drifted lower in a dull session that saw a wide range of small losses. Trading was the slowest since April of 1958.

Refining and foods were lower but most industrial groups were mixed. Steel companies of Canada, trading ex-dividend, slipped 2 1/2 at 79. Canada Packers A was off 3 1/2. Royal Bank added 1 at 84.

In base metals Hudson Bay was off 1/2 at 51 and Consolidated Mining gave up 1/2 at 73. Consolidated Denison lost 1/2 at 13.

Hollinger led gains, up 1/2 at 30 1/2. Giant Yellowknife dipped 40 cents at $9.30.

Senior western oils were off. Hudson's Bay eased 1/2 at 12 1/2 while Calgary and Edmonton and Pacific Petroleum gave up 1/2.

Losses in Oils

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices were generally lower at the close of trading.

Royal made 1 at 84 in a weak banking section. Nova Scotia fell 1 at 73.

Steels were mixed, with Dofasco off 1/2 at 47, Algoma up 1/2 at 38 and Dofasco up 1/2 at 16.

In refining oils, losses showed for Texas Eastern at 57 1/2 and British American down 1/2 at 33. Imperial eased 1/2 at 35.

Papers and utilities were irregular. International Paper made 2 at 122 1/2 and Consolidated Paper slipped 1/2 at 36 1/2.

B.C. Power slipped 1/2 at 34 1/2 and Quebec Natural Gas made 1/2 at 16 1/2.

Trans-Canada Pipe Lines eased 1/2 at 24 1/2.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (CP)—Hopes of a Conservative victory in today's election spurred the stock market to strong gains. The industrial market was particularly buoyant.

There was a big demand for steel. Boverat was prominent in the newspaper section, and Ford was a standout among motors.

Gilt-edged prices were firm in response to a small investment demand.

Gold was selectively higher, golds were quiet and firm and copper improved.

Grain Market

WINNIPEG (CP)—Continued unfavorable harvest weather, with rain or snow reported in many areas of western Canada, prompted aggressive buying on the Winnipeg grain exchange in all grains, especially flax.

Flax received active support from commission houses and for international accounts.

Oats and barley prices also were firm.

Eye-to-Eye Sales

Former professor of marketing at UBC, Larry M. Vukelich of Portland will address Victoria Sales Executives Club on "eye-to-eye" selling Tuesday at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

Brallone Tops $6

VANCOUVER — Isolated gains appeared in mining stocks. Brallone rose 10 cents to 6.05, while Cragmont found local support to advance to 3.00. Cowichan Copper was 60 cents and Midwest 21 1/2 cents.

Consolidated Mining was firmer at $18, while Woodward's eased fractionally at $19.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP)—Short-term Canadian today were 10 to 20 cents stronger in active trade on the Montreal bond market.

Long-term Canadian, provincials and corporates were quiet and unchanged.

PRESENTING FOR 1960... BUICK'S ALL-TIME BEST

LeSabre 4-door sedan

THE TURBINE DRIVE
BUICK '60

A car with major advances in transmission, suspension, brakes, and engines which are Buick's alone today
A solid, substantial car • A car of superb comfort, quiet, reliability • A car you should drive soon.

NEW COMFORT, QUIETNESS, AND QUALITY

Doors that open wider—easier to get in and out. Family-size interior. Seats that are higher, more deeply cushioned, and repositioned to provide more room for feet and legs. Careful comparisons indicate today's Buick, with torque-tube drive and its high use of insulation, is perhaps the quietest running car in Canada. Buick's new program of modern quality control comes to a peak in the Turbine Drive Buick '60.

NEW INTERIOR DECOR AND CONVENIENCE

An entirely new "Mirromagic" instrument panel. It lets the driver see speed, gas gauge and other necessary readings at a glance in a mirror he tilts to suit his own eye level. And a new exclusive safety feature—the Twilight Sentinel†—that turns headlights on and off automatically as light conditions require. All-new colors and fabrics. Richer appointments such as wall-to-wall carpet in Electra, Invicta, and LeSabre.

OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE WITH ECONOMY

1. Buick's Exclusive Turbine Drive Transmission* is jet smooth, responds faster, more economically than ever. No gears ever shift while the car is in motion.
2. Buick's Exclusive Air-Flo Aluminum Drum Brakes—found on no other Canadian Car. Fin-cooled drums front and rear for faster cooling. Fast cooling means safer stopping, longer brake life. Slotted wheels pass a current of air from under the car constantly over the brakes for added cooling efficiency. (Wheels are 15" size which gives you up to $\frac{1}{8}$ more tire life.)

3. Buick's exclusive Wildcat Engines give high efficiency with high economy. (A standard new LeSabre Engine is designed to give Buick performance on regular fuel.)

*Optional at extra cost

Fewer Teams, Better Players Should Help WHL

A forced reduction from nine to seven teams and a sharp increase in player personnel indicates that the Western Hockey League will be played this season on the highest caliber since it was formed in 1952-53.

With New Westminster and Saskatoon suspending operations for a year, the WHL will open regular season play on three fronts Friday night. The league will operate with three prairie and four coast teams in just one division and each will play a 70-game schedule.

Last season, and previous seasons, the WHL operated with a Prairie and a Coast division. In 1958-59, prairie teams played a 64-game schedule while coast teams played 70 games.

Teams competing in the 1959-60 season will be Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle, Spokane, Calgary, Edmonton and Winnipeg.

Play opens Friday with all seven clubs, at least through the eyes of their coaches, rated stronger than last season and with bright prospects for a three- and possibly four-team race for first place.

Seattle must be rated as favorites to repeat as WHL champions. Manager-coach Keith Allen's Totems appear just as strong as last year, and maybe even stronger, after picking up four aggressive players.

Forward Eddie Stankiewicz, formerly with Edmonton, was purchased from Hershey Bears of the American League, defenceman Jack Hendrickson comes to the Totems from Edmonton and forward Pat Ginnell joins the club from junior competition. Allen is looking for big things from rookie forward Gerry Goyer who joined Seattle for the playoffs last season from Kelowna Packers. Goyer is expected to take the place of star forward Val Fonteyne, bought by Detroit Red Wings.

Most of last year's players are back. They include outstanding goalie Bev Bentley, defencemen Les Hunt, Frank Arnett and Bill Davidson and forwards Rudy Fillion, Guyle Fielder, Goyer, Gerry Leonard, Tom McVie, Don Chipka and Marc Boileau.

Vancouver appears stronger than last year in nearly every position.

More scoring power has been added with the addition of WHL color guys Eddie Dorohoy and Colin Kilburn and the purchase of Bruce Carmichael and Dave Duke, both who have performed in the WHL.

Play Starts Friday

From the parent New York Rangers comes left winger Les Colwill and Saskatoon sent forward Bob Kabel and defencemen Ralph Keller and Sandy Hucul to the Canucks.

Back from the 1958-59 team are defencemen Brent Menab, Larry Cahan and Walt Chever and forwards Ray Cyr, Danny Bellisle and Ron Hutchison. Canucks are still hoping to get centre Max McNab and right-winger Hugh Barlow from Victoria as these players won't leave the mainland.

Flery Hank Bassen handles the goaltending position. Spokane, changing its name from Flyers to Comets this season, will have a new coach in the person of Joe Crozier.

Back in goal for Spokane will be Emile (The Cat) Francis who almost single-handedly put the club in the playoffs last season. Other members returning will be forwards Earl (Ching) Johnson, Bev Bell, Max Mekilok, Al Johnson, Del Toppol, Ron Atwell and Nelson (Blinky) Boyce. Buddy Rodman, Connie Madigan and defenceman Tom Hodges.

Five new players, all defencemen, will appear with the Comets. They are Crozier, Harry Smith, from the Okanagan League, Fred Creighton, purchased from Victoria, Rudy Balon from Clinton and Leo Amadio from Montreal.

Edmonton will start the season with 11 holdover players, giving it a wide range of experience. General manager Bud Poile is counting heavily on second-year men Murray Oliver, Warren Hynes, and Gordon Labossiere.

Goaltender Dennis Riggins, who sat out most of last season with an eye injury, will strengthen the club considerably. Defencemen Bud MacPherson, Hugh Coffin, both veterans, Lloyd Haddon and Dave Amadio are with the Flyers.

Coach Gus Kyle of Calgary has lost many of his better players from last season but has filled in with several experienced forwards Claude Pronovost from Montreal Royals will handle the goaltending job left by Roy Edwards.

In front of Pronovost will be Fred Hucul, an all-star with Calgary last season. Doug Barkley from Buffalo, Bob Wilson from Quebec and Wayne North from Kelowna.

New forwards are Gordie Vejprava from Cleveland, Jackie McLeod and Merv

Keryluk from Saskatoon, Jim Moro from Vernon, and Jim Brown from University of Denver. Lou Jankowski and Sid Finney will be returning forwards.

Winnipeg will have a solid goaltender in veteran Al Rollins, who was lured from retirement after a pair of rookies were found wanting.

Returning defencemen will be Bill Folk, Ed Zemrau and Don Johns while Teddy Green and Gary Bergman, both juniors last year, will fight for the other spot.

Forwards Barrie Ross, Gerry Brissou, Ray Brunel, Dick Lamoureux, Pete Kapusta, Red Johansen and Steve Witliuk will return. New forwards are Paul Masnick and Elliot Chorley from Saskatoon and Gordie Redahl from Boston.

At Sandown

Eye-in-Sky Was Busy

What had been expected to be perhaps the best mid-week racing ever presented at Sandown Park yesterday turned out to be just that.

Thrilling finishes with good times on a fast track was the order of a day which came close to creating racing history, just missing dead heats for first place in the first two races.

After Jane Grey, getting up in the last stride, had won the camera decision by a short nod in the first race, the camera couldn't separate Lady Sadie R and La Viscaina in the second race and judges had to rule it a dead heat, believed to be the first for win money at Sandown.

Jane Grey, Sleepy Star and Signalad tore through the stretch as a three-horse team in the first race in as fine a finish as a horse race can produce.

And then it was La Viscaina getting her nose up to the wire at the identical moment as pace-setting Lady Sadie R with Early Rambler hardly a length behind and, perhaps, moving the fastest of all but unable to get through on the rail.

BY LONG NECK
But that wasn't all. Davenport charged up in the third race to win by a long neck with the camera needed to separate Bro. Charles and Porter's Pebble, also making a late run. And the photo sign went up again in the fifth as Arioso, apparently well beaten but actually only well rated, came out of the horizon to catch front-running Pickle Boy and outcharge Baby Rose.

Only in the last two races was any horse able to establish clear superiority. Hard-knocking Balach Dorch confounded his backers slightly in the Ganges Handicap by breaking on top and winning easily, successfully disposing of Siwash Grace and Shady Lea and easily holding off Akim, trying to make it three in a row.

Keats Island did make it three in a row in the last race.

laying back in second place until the head of the stretch and then coming on the outside for an easy win. Summer Star was a pace-making winner all the way in the fourth but had to go all out to hold off the consistent Indian Springs, who has never been worse than third in five starts and who has three times taken the winner's share of the purse.

Commercials Need Refs

Referees are needed urgently by the Commercial Hockey League, officials have announced, and interested persons are asked to attend a meeting in Memorial Arena at 8 p.m. today.

Another local hockey need is for players aged 14 and 15 for the midget league. Registration and instruction are in the arena at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

Second race photo yesterday showed two noses on the wire and, as can be seen, the judges couldn't help but call this one a dead heat. That's La Viscaina on the rail, consistent Lady Sadie R on the outside, and there is no doubt at all about the two horses for the quinnella. Early Rambler is coming up for show.

Official Photos Kept Fans Guessing

It took race-track patrons at Sandown Park quite a while yesterday to figure out how officials ruled Jane Grey the winner of the first race instead of calling it a dead heat. Only a few noticed that the two noses apparently touching the finish line together both belonged to Don Carley's chestnut mare. The top one is just the mirror image, necessary to give the position of the inside horse—in this case, Sleepy Star. A good look shows Signalad between Jane Grey and Sleepy Star and beaten only by a neck.—(Photos by Eye-in-Sky.)

Clark, Not Too Photogenic, Maintains Apprentice Rating

Pete Clark, the 17-year-old Red Bluff, Calif., apprentice who has Sandown Park patrons by the ears, was only about half a dozen lengths away from a sweep yesterday and only two camera clicks away from graduating into the jockey class.

Riding the full card of seven races and six times going into the starting gate with the mutual favorite between his knees, Clark won his 26th and 27th races of the 10-day-old thoroughbred meeting, placed four times and was fourth, but only two lengths out, in his other trip.

But for losing two camera decisions, on Sleepy Star in the first race and on Baby Rose in the fifth, Clark would have started today's racing as a full-fledged jockey, and minus the five-pound advantage of the apprentice rider.

Two winners is a good day for any rider but yesterday was a bit frustrating for the teen-aged whiz. He was nipped in the first race by Jane Grey, caught in the last few strides by long-shot Davenport in the third race and beaten in the fifth by Arioso, who came out of nowhere to pass them all just when it seemed Clark had Baby Rose on her way to the winners' circle.

Only on Novelli, who couldn't quite keep up, and on Akim, who didn't have what it takes to catch Balach-Dorch, was Clark clearly beaten. The total margin of difference between his horses and the winners in the five races he didn't win was less than six lengths.

With four days left, he can count the riding championship as his. Bobby Cormack, with 11 wins, is closest.

Don Larsen, young Yankee right-hander, pitched the first perfect game in World Series history three years ago today. He set down 27 Brooklyn batters in order with no hits, no walks, some reaching first base. He had seven strikeouts as New York won 2-0 in a 3-4 lead in games. The Yankees won that series four games to three.

Jack Wintemute Rotary Champ

New golf champion of the Victoria Rotary Club is Jack Wintemute. He won the title at Victoria Golf Club Tuesday with seven over par 76.

Taking 41 on the easier outward half, Jack completed the second nine in a one-under-par 35. Defending champion Lionel Morrison took 80. Morrison, however, in partnership with A. E. Walters took the Rotary buttons with a 15th hole first and second ball win over the holders Peter Taylor and Don Johansen.

White Sox Happy Back in Own Park

CHICAGO—"Boy, it's great to be back in the big barn," burly Early Wynn said yesterday. "Here we can play baseball, not Russian roulette."

The big barn is Comiskey Park, where 39-year-old Wynn or some other White Sox pitcher must win today if Chicago is to stay in the 1959 world series. And the "Russian roulette" was Wynn's description of the three games in outsize Los Angeles Coliseum, where the Dodgers went ahead three games to two.

Forecast for this crucial sixth game is cloudy and cool, with Wynn starting work on the Dodgers at 10 a.m. PST.

Wynn won the opener 11-0 a week ago, leaving in the seventh when his right elbow stiffened. It still bothered him Monday when he was shelled out in the third inning as the Dodgers won 4-3, their third win.

WON THRILLER
For those who may have been in orbit at the time, the Sox won a 1-0 thriller Tuesday in the final game at the Coliseum to prolong the series.

Opening for the Angelinos will be Johnny Podres, idle since he won last Saturday, and Dodger manager Walt Alton couldn't be happier.

"Johnny likes to pitch at Comiskey Park," Alton said last night. "He can use his change of pace more often than at home. He's a better pitcher when he has more room."

SNIDER PLAYS
Only lineup changes see Duke Snider, his weak knee feeling a little better, ready to start in centre and bat cleanup for the Dodgers, while Sox boss Al Lopez will go with Bubba Phillips at third and Jim McAnany in right against southpaw Podres.

Broadcast schedule: Channel 2, 5 and 6 on television and CBU (690) and KING (1090) on radio, game time 10 a.m.

Odds makers still like Chicago, by 11-10, to even it up, but think two chances give Los Angeles an edge for the crown by 2-1.

If it goes all the way, Alton said, he'll start the clincher Friday with big Don Drysdale, shaky winner on Sunday. Lopez likely will go with Dick Donovan, who was great in relief Wednesday, and shoot in southpaw Billy Pierce quickly if Wynn slips today.

Cage Request Farmed Out

Request of the Victoria Basketball Commission for help in getting over a hurdle—finding low-rental accommodation for basketball—was referred by city council finance committee yesterday to a new sub-committee of the Greater Victoria Intermunicipal committee.

The sub-committee was set up Monday to study Greater Victoria's athletic needs.

Ticket speculators are licking their chops in anticipation of a seventh game. One scalper was quoted as saying: "The sky will be the limit then."

Only three teams have overcome 3-1 deficits to win the series—Boston Red Sox in 1903 when it was a best-of-nine affair, Pittsburgh in 1925 and the Yanks against Milwaukee last year.

That 1-0 loss cost the Dodgers, White Sox and other baseball officials something close to $400,000 for charter aircraft to return to Chicago. Six DC7s were used, each costing $5,000 plus 10 per cent for various taxes and above that was the cost of special one-flight insurance for every body.

Although they are not, at the moment, scheduled to see action when the Cougars open the Western Hockey League season at Vancouver tomorrow night, Charlie and John Goodwin will get a good chance to make the Victoria club.

Manager-coach Hal Laycoe said last night that he has requested permission to give the young brothers a five-game tryout and that they will "probably" see action in early games.

The Cougars start off by playing four games in the first six days. They return for their home opener on Saturday, with the Canucks again the opposition, then meet the Vancouver club for the third time in four days in an afternoon engagement on Thanksgiving Day.

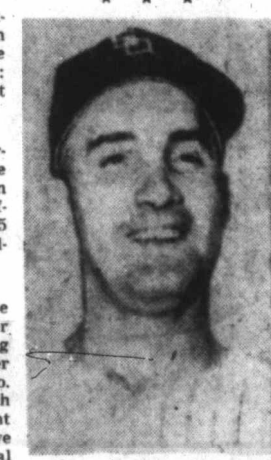

Calgary Stampede show here next Wednesday for the fourth game of the first inter-sectional tour this season.

Meanwhile, the Cougars are working out daily as they put the finishing touches to their pre-season training and Laycoe hopes to have a fit club for the opener.

Jack Blonda appears to be about over an ankle injury and Pete Wright is recovering from a bad cold. At the moment, both look like starters on Friday. If either is unable to play, Don McLeod will fill in on defence.

Laycoe, who still has three or four players to sign, still plans to use the same opening lineup he named earlier in the week.

It still wasn't clear last night whether or not Gordie Wilson, who had been expected to be a stand-out for the Cougars this season, would stay with the club or return to his Port Arthur home.

BILLY PIERCE . . . on back burner

Goodwin Brothers Get Their Chance

Wilson, who hasn't worked out this week and is likely to need extra work to catch up in conditioning, told Laycoe his knee "felt better" but appeared undecided on what he was going to do.

"I'd like to see him stay with us," Laycoe reiterated last night, "but he has to make up his mind that he wants to play hockey this season. If he does, he could do us a lot of good."

Laycoe has another problem, one he'd like Victorians to settle for him. Several of his players are in need of lodging, some wanting a place to room and board and some wanting small furnished apartments. A telephone call to the club offices—Evergreen 2-2322—would be appreciated.

Otis Fines and Fires

Calgary Stampede coach Otis Douglas, stating that "I want and intend to get 100 per cent effort from everyone," last night fired, a heated verbal blast at his club, dismissed one player, fined several others and threatened new action.

Canadian defensive end Hal Newton was released. Douglas would not name those fined but said:

"A couple of incidents have come to my attention. This is the first time I have ever made a public statement about discipline but until they give me a 100 per cent effort I don't feel I need to protect any ball players."

Douglas, in Calgary three years, likely won't return for 1960. His club has won five and lost seven this fall.

STILL HOLDOUTS in the Toronto Maple Leafs camp are Dick Duff, Larry Regan and Billy Harris and threatened suspensions are still pending. Leafs have called Al MacNeil, Rudy Migay and Bobby Nevin from Rochester of the AHL. . . . Ottawa of the Big Four has objected to the fact that Saskatchewan of the WIFU approached. Frank Tripucka about coaching before coming to the owners, but doesn't expect any success for its "routine" action. . . . tackle Charlie Horton, 23, obtained by B.C. Lions from Toronto in the Al Dorow deal, has been placed on waivers.

WOLVERHAMPTON WANDERERS just managed to qualify for the second round of European Cup play, beating Vorwaerts of East Germany 2-0 to win the two-game, total-goal series 3-2. . . . Rudolf Stille scored a unanimous decision over Ralph Dupas in a 10-round television fight at Louisville. . . . Caledon

Coho Fishing Much Quieter

That excellent coho fishing that has kept fishermen busy off the west coast of Vancouver Island is giving signs of ending for the season.

Smaller catches seem to be the order of the day out around William Head, Beechey Head and Otter Point. However, there still are some good-sized fish lurking around.

Anglers have just one week left to enter the Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest and take a chance on any valuable hidden-weight prizes, the most impressive of which is a two-week trip to Acapulco for two.

DICK CORDICK... can Larsen start?

Slick Offence Faces Surrey

It'll be the slick offence of quarterback Dick Cordick against the bread-and-butter running of halfback Jack Cole in Victoria Navy's "game of the year" in the Pacific Coast intermediate football conference here Saturday.

Cordick will lead Navy against Surrey Rams in Royal Athletic Park at 2 p.m. in a battle for the league's third and last playoff spot, the two squads at the moment sharing the cellar with four starts—and four losses.

The same "traust" title goes to Sunday's game in Vancouver, when Victoria Drakes and the hometown Wildcats attempt to break their first-place tie, each having four starts—and four wins.

Loser in each game has

CHICAGO — Chicago Black Hawks, figured as a good second-place bet, and New York Rangers, generally consigned to the status of an also-ran, did nothing to upset pre-season calculations here Wednesday night as they opened the National Hockey League season.

Far superior, the Hawks led from the start as they marked up a 5-2 decision over a New York club which was bogged down by a shaky defence and spent much of the game inside its own zone.

Little changed from the team which finished third last season, Hawks did unveil a potent new line which had rookie Stan Mikita making the plays for Eric Nesterenko and Bobby Hull, a couple of youngish veterans.

The 19-year-old Mikita, who played junior hockey last season at St. Catharines, was credited with a goal and an assist while Hull, who scored 18 goals and made 32 assists last season, scored once and helped on two other goals.

Defenceman Al Arbour, who scored only twice last season, and Elmer "Moose" Vasko and ex-Ranger Ron Murphy got the other Chicago goals.

Red Sullivan, on a power play with Camille Henry and Andy Hebertson and Larry Popen, got the New York goals.

Second game of the season is scheduled tonight with Boston Bruins opening the season in Montreal against the defending-champion Canadiens, odds

It's new Ford Falcon day!

When you wish upon a car... and when that car's a new Ford Falcon... all the practical, economical, beautiful things you've wished for will come true. Lots of leg and head room, honest comfort for six adults. High, wide-opening doors so you can get in and out easily. Soft, foam-cushioned front seats for real luxury, even on long-distance treks. A clear view of the road both directly ahead and behind.

Economy? The Falcon's brand new Six averages just over 30 miles to the gallon—with 90 lively horsepower to speed you on your way. No creeping on hills, no dawdling on straightaways, and all with the smooth ride and solid feel of a much larger car. When traffic's heavy, the Falcon's handy 109.5 inch wheelbase make it a joy to handle, a pleasure to park, even in those "I thought I'd never make it" spaces. And speaking of space, the Falcon's trunk will hold an outboard motor with gas tank, four bags and a thermos jug with room to spare.

Body squeaks and rattles have no place to start in the Falcon's strong-yet-light single unit construction. Critical areas on the underside of the body are zinc-coated to prevent rusting. Even the muffler and tail-pipe rate special attention. They're aluminized and will normally last up to twice as long as ordinary mufflers. (And just in case, the front fenders are removable for easy, inexpensive replacement).

No need to keep wishing—start walking to your nearest Ford Dealer's. The car that makes beautiful sense is here!

If your wishes include automatic transmission, the Falcon's glad to oblige with Fordomatic Drive. It comes with both the Tudor and with the Fordor you see above.

Fire Maroons 300 on Pier

SOUTHEND, England (AP)—River boats last night picked up nearly 300 terrified vacationers marooned by fire on the world's longest pier. The holiday-makers were trapped at the pier head when flames swept through a wooden dance pavilion near the shore. Many in bright summer clothes escaped by climbing down the pier stanchions to waiting boats.

For 90 minutes seven fire brigades pumped seawater on to the leaping flames, eventually getting them under control. The fire also blazed through the pier's miniature railway depot and the stores beneath it.

By Rudolf Flesch

The current big fiction bestseller is "Lady Chatterley's Lover" by D. H. Lawrence.

"Lady Chatterley" was written 31 years ago. It was Lawrence's great manifesto, the statement of his basic philosophy and way of life.

Lawrence hated all science, progress and civilization. He wanted mankind to go back to its original dumb-animal stage so as to recover the glories of wild, untamed nature. People should forget about their minds and live with their bodies only. And that meant that there should be a great renaissance of sex.

When Lawrence wrote the book, the Victorian attitude toward sex was still in the saddle. Sex was something never, never to be mentioned. Well-mannered ladies were not supposed to know there was such a thing at all. Their husbands had the tacit approval of society when they looked for sex outside the home, but the whole thing was really too bad. One of nature's most awkward arrangements.

Ladies Made Strides

Since then the well-mannered ladies have made some strides. First they conquered cigarettes. Smoking used to be a purely masculine affair, consisting of pipes and big black cigars. Not any more. Now everybody smokes cigarettes and nobody looks twice at a smoking lady.

Next came drinking. Step by step, the ladies edged their way into the male world of alcohol. Mixed drinks are now for mixed company.

But just as smoking gradually changed from heavy cigars to cigarettes and filter-tips, so drinking is getting milder every year and the alcohol content of the average whisky goes down, down, down.

Even once-masculine cheese gets milder and milder and instead of cheese smelling gloriously to heaven we get some odorless, dainty, pasteurized spread.

Naturally, like cigarettes and whisky, the thing gets milder every year. Sex is now not wild and woolly and extra-magical, the way it used to be in Victorian times, but a respectable domestic affair, safely under control of the family doctor.

D. H. Lawrence would shudder if he could see what's going on.

Loot of Old Masters Welcomed Home

Toronto Art Gallery's $1,000,000 in stolen art treasures have come home, found Saturday after an anonymous phone tip to police. Here, left to right, Arthur Kimbar, secretary-treasurer of the

Comics Trained Thieves

MONTREAL (CP)—Two young crime comic book readers are in police cells in the wake of a crime wave in the Eastern Townships. Provincial police said the boys—brothers—are being held for six car thefts, armed robbery, seven burglaries, threats uttered at gunpoint and illegal possession of weapons.

They are 16 and 11 years old. Their father has had a nervous breakdown since their arrest last weekend.

"Just for the fun of it," they stole about $2,000 worth of goods from summer cottages, police said.

The boys, surprised by a cottage owner during the weekend, came down from the attic, rifles in hand. They loaded the cottage owner's car with loot and then drove away.

They were later captured after driving at 50 miles an hour over narrow dirt roads.

Historic Hotels Sold to Sisters

By JAMES K. NESBITT

Two of Victoria's most historic buildings, Glen Court and Angela Hotel, have been bought by the Sisters of St. Ann. for expansion purposes.

Purchase price of each building was in the neighborhood of $90,000.

Glen Court, at the corner of Blanshard and Humboldt, will be torn down for parking space when leases run out at the end of the year.

NEW WING

Eventually, the site may take a new wing for St. Joseph's Hospital.

Angela Hotel, on Burdett Avenue, will be an extension of Mount St. Mary, from which it is separated by a house, also owned by the Sisters.

Glen Court was opened in November, 1865, as the White Horse Hotel and Saloon. There was a note in The Colonist: "White Horse Hotel—This new hotel, situated at the corner of Humboldt and Blanshard, will be opened this evening by Messrs. Mason and Balls, who invite the attendance of their friends."

Since prohibition came in 1917, it has been a rooming house, its name changed to Glen Court.

The Angela has had a much more genteel existence. It was opened in 1865 as an Anglican girls' school for the daughters of Victoria's non-Catholic elite. It was endowed by the Baroness Angela Burdett-Coutts, hence the name. This titled lady was a great friend of the first Anglican bishop here, Rt. Rev. George Hills, and gave generously of her wealth for Anglican purposes in this community, though she was never here.

For generations Victoria's rich young ladies went to the Angela to learn music, French and deportment, with less attention paid to the three R's. There were some noted headmistresses—Miss Pemberton, sister of Joseph Despard Pemberton, first surveyor-general of Vancouver Island; Miss Crease, sister of Sir Henry Pelling Pellew Crease, first attorney-general of British Columbia, and the Misses Penrice.

BECAME HOTEL

Not long after the turn of the century the Angela became a hotel and in recent years has been a select residential hotel.

It is understood the Sisters will in some way preserve the name Angela—St. Angela's, or Mount St. Angela.

Strange Lights in Sky? Well, Victorians Doubt It

Strange lights in the sky? Sure. Flying saucers? Nonsense! That appears to be the attitude of most Victorians towards reports of "saucer" sightings in the Cowichan area and, Tuesday night, in Victoria. Most Victorians, but not all. For instance, Dave Hutchinson of 1319 Point was one of a number asked yesterday if they believed in flying saucers, and he replied, "Why not?" He had never seen a flying saucer, he said, "but lots of people say they have, and how else can you explain some of these things?" At the other extreme—with a lot of company—was Jim Stothard, 2251 Cadboro Bay Road: "No, I don't. I never go up to Duncan."

Everyone was willing to accept that peculiar lights had been seen in the sky, but most said they believed the lights were "meteors or something," or "phenomena of some sort, but not flying saucers," or "perhaps aircraft or missiles being tested," or just optical illusions. Optical illusion, of sorts, was the explanation offered yesterday by a Duncan woman, Miss F. M. Draper of Sherman Road, a Ground Observer Corps spotter for six years. Miss Draper said there was no doubt in her mind the mysterious "objects" seen during evening hours recently were nothing but reflections of Vancouver lights, and Vancouver searchlight "spots" among the reflections.

Murder Trial Concluding

'Had It' Said Lusse Slumping to Floor

"If you don't open this door I'll kill you," stormed angry James Lusse, 55, who was slain by a rifle bullet in the heart.

"He's going to kill me. He's going to kill me," said Mrs. Alice Olive Webber, a widow of many years, who covered behind a bedroom door with her son.

"The gun went off," said the 17-year-old son, Ronald Webber, who sat on his bed with a .22-rifle in his lap.

ALL THREE LIVED

These were some of the things said last May 23 at 1417 Camosun, where all three lived and where Lusse died, that night, an assize court jury was told here yesterday.

It was the second day of the murder trial of Ronald Webber, who said yesterday of the dead man:

"I liked him very much."

The case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon.

WEBBER ON STAND

Highlight of yesterday's session came when defence counsel Gerald Lauder put young Webber on the stand.

Spectators in the nearly-filled public gallery strained to hear as the boy, in his well-modulated, mature but low voice, recounted the events that ended with Lusse lying dead on a bedroom floor.

The narrative began with the arrival home early in the evening of Mrs. Webber and Lusse, both of whom had been drinking.

I'VE HAD IT

It ended with Lusse saying with a groan, before he slumped to the floor: "I've had it."

Lusse and Mrs. Webber were in the kitchen where Lusse was fixing supper and "I was in the living room watching TV," the youth said. "They got into an argument. I couldn't hear exactly what they said, but I think it was about me."

PICKED UP WATCH

Mrs. Webber came into the living-room and picked up Lusse's watch.

"He came out and slapped her and said: 'If you don't leave my property alone, I will kill you," Webber told the court, adding that Lusse was "very angry, almost yelling."

"Jimmy pushed her in the bathroom and I could hear the water running in the sink," Webber said.

TURNED ON TAP

Mrs. Webber, who was on the stand earlier, said that Lusse had forced her head in the washbasin and turned on the cold tap.

Shortly afterward his

mother phoned the police, he said, and then told Lusse: "You'd better pack your things."

Webber said that after Lusse left with a policeman "I went downstairs and locked the basement doors and windows so Jimmy couldn't get in."

NAILED WINDOWS

He also nailed some windows shut and put an extra hook and eye catch on the basement garage doors, accused said. Then he went up stairs and locked all the doors and windows he could.

"But I couldn't lock the door coming up from the basement—the lock was painted over. I tried to wedge a chair against it, but couldn't."

At this point, Webber said he saw Lusse pull up in his car outside.

LOCKED DOOR

"I ran into my bedroom and locked the door and then I heard him crash in the basement door."

"Then I heard him coming up the stairs. He came to my room and pounded on the door."

Lusse shouted through the door, Webber said:

"You think you're smart locking the doors on me. But no one does that to me and gets away with it."

With that, Lusse returned to the basement.

"I opened the door then," said Webber, "and got Mom to come in my bedroom."

FOUNDED ON DOOR

"Jimmy returned—he must have heard her—and pounded some more on the door and said:

"If you don't open this door I'll kill you."

Following that threat, the youth said, he took his .22 rifle from the closet where it was kept and put two shells in it.

He said his mother kept saying, over and over, "He's going to kill me. He's going to kill me."

WARNED HIM

"I warned him I had my rifle," Webber said. "I turned out the light and sat on the bed."

"Then the door burst open ... I couldn't see anything."

"The gun went off."

"I heard him groan and he said 'I've had it' and slumped to the floor."

Webber said he then turned on the light and asked his mother to phone the police.

Crown prosecutor Robert Wootton, during cross-examination of Webber, asked why he had reloaded the rifle.

JUST AUTOMATIC

"It was just an automatic gesture," Webber replied. "I meant to clear the cartridge."

Mr. Wootton reminded the youth that in Webber's earlier statement, made to detectives, he said he thought Lusse was "only fooling" when he fell.

"You intended to shoot again, if necessary, didn't you?" Mr. Wootton asked.

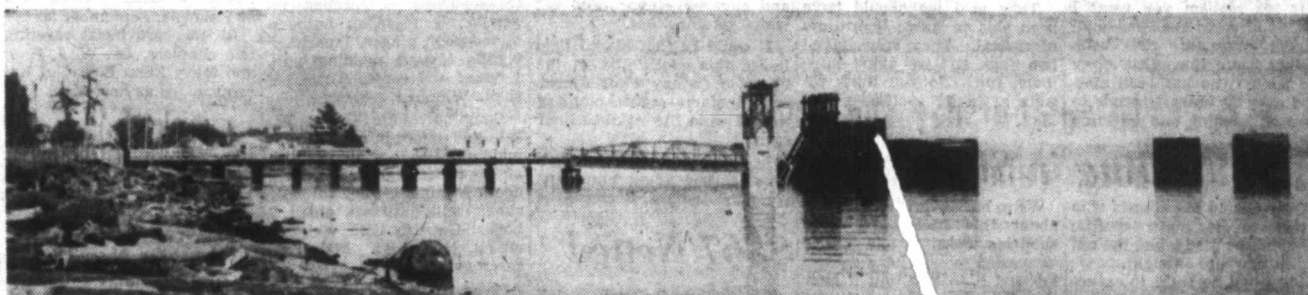

"Yes, I expect so," Webber said.

LIKED LUSSE

Webber told the court that he liked Lusse very much, that he used to go out with him and that Lusse got a part-time job for him.

Trial resumes in the court-house at 10:30 a.m. when both defence and prosecution will give summations of their cases. Following that Mr. Justice Harry J. Sullivan will charge the jury.

A verdict is likely this afternoon.

New federal government wharf at Sidney is nearing completion and will be used by Sidney-Anacortes ferries within a month. Sidney-Tsawwassen ferries will also use the wharf when the B.C. government puts them in service next year to the Canadian mainland.

Doctors Defend Speed

Ambulance Men 'Do Good Job'

Ambulance drivers elsewhere may drive too fast for the good of the patients they're driving, but medical spokesmen say such is not the case in Victoria.

Not often, anyway.

Dr. B. Bachynski of Regina has claimed it is unwise for ambulance drivers to speed to hospital with accident victims. The speed of the trip, he said, could increase the severity of some injuries.

The Regina doctor said haste has proved unnecessary in 98.2 per cent of 2,500 consecutive ambulance runs in a large city.

Speaking primarily of Victoria, Dr. J. W. Anderson, retiring president of the Victoria Medical Society, said flatly:

"Ambulance drivers do a good job."

"In some cases it is wise for a driver to drive slowly, but in most cases a patient is better off when taken to hospital as quickly as possible."

"It is very hard for the driver to diagnose an injured person—after all, he isn't a doctor."

Dr. E. N. Boettcher, administrator of St. Joseph's Hospital, agrees with Dr. Anderson.

"When a driver is trained in first aid, as most are," he said "he is in a position to evaluate to some extent the emergency qualities of any case. He can then use his discretion as to the speed of his trip to hospital."

Guzzwell Speaks Tonight

Around-the-world sailor John Guzzwell, who has proved to one Victoria audience that he is as good a lecturer as he is a yachtsman, will address his first public meeting here tonight.

A two-part lecture series entitled "Around the World With John Guzzwell and Trekska," will start at 8 p.m. at Central Junior High School under the sponsorship of the Victoria Y's Men's Club.

The lectures will be accompanied by slides made from pictures taken by the 29-year-old yachtsman during his epic voyage around the world in a 20½-foot yawl.

Tickets are available at Eaton's and the YMCA at 1203 Blanshard. Price is 50 cents and proceeds will go to club charities.

Fatal Malahat Mis'aps

Drivers Freed Of Negligence

Two young Victoria men—both charged as drivers in separate fatal accidents on the Malahat—have been freed of criminal negligence charges by the attorney-general's department.

They are lacrosse player James McNulty, 29, and Francis Gilbert, 19, of 1250 Palmer Street.

INSUFFICIENT

Stay of proceedings was entered for the pair because of insufficient evidence, a department spokesman said.

This means both men are free. Gilbert was committed for higher court trial after a preliminary hearing April 22; McNulty was committed on June 3.

NANAIMO GAME

McNulty was charged as driver of the car of lacrosse player James Richard "Pee-wee" Bradshaw, 27, early May 3 when the pair were returning from a Nanaimo game.

The car went out of control, leaped a guard rail and plunged 40 feet down a rocky bank, pinning Bradshaw in the wreck and injuring McNulty.

DIED LATER

McNulty is from St. Catharines, Ont.

Fatally injured March 22 in the other crash, also on the Malahat, was Linda Henly, 17, of 1722 Bay.

BEACH PARTY

The tragedy followed a beach party at Shawnigan Lake attended by three carloads of youngsters.

On the way home young Gilbert was passing another car belonging to the group when the mishap occurred.

"I can't remember what happened too clearly," said James McMaster, one of the six youngsters in the death car.

He said afterward the car swerved left to pass. "I didn't look up again until I felt the car swerve to the right, and I saw the rock wall coming."

McMaster said he noticed a slight "shimmy" in the car on the way to Shawnigan. He said the car didn't seem to respond properly to steering.

Gilbert received only minor injuries; the other four passengers were in hospital about a week recovering from injuries.

'Rescue' Truck Bought

Oak Bay Kiwanis Club has bought a special "rescue truck" to be given to Oak Bay municipality.

The truck, loaded with equipment already owned by Oak Bay, will carry a resuscitator, power equipment for use in freeing passengers from wrecked automobiles, and other supplies to facilitate rescue work.

"We were told of the gift today," Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch said last night. "And we want to thank the Kiwanis club for its fine work and the truck it has done for us in the past."

Reeve Still Unconvinced Area Needs Family Court

Reeve A. C. Wurtele, armed with more information, still is unconvinced of the need for a central juvenile and family court in Greater Victoria.

The reeve recently asked a committee which is pressing for establishment of the central court for "facts and figures" to support its claim. Ec-qu沿海, is opposed to the court.

"I have received the information," the reeve said, last night. "But there are still some questions left unanswered."

The committee's report will go to municipal council for further discussion at its next meeting to be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the municipal hall.

$30,000,000 Sold

B.C. Bond Buyers Thanked by Bennett

Premier Bennett yesterday thanked the people of British Columbia for over-subscribing the $30,000,000 provincial government issue of PGE parity bonds.

Sale was stopped at 3 p.m. yesterday.

The premier said tens and tens of thousands of people from all over the province and from every walk of life bought the bonds.

It has been estimated the government spent close to $400,000 in commissions and advertising to market the bonds.

The premier said selling costs were less than selling costs on a percentage basis than Canada savings bonds.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: Better duck — a brickbat is coming your way. You sure fixed things for me. I was going with this real fine chick and was about to move in for the kill when she informed me she just read your booklet "Necking and Petting" and was going to take your advice.

I spent a lot of time and money on this babe. I told her pretty plain what I thought of her and your crummy booklet. Why aren't you realistic, Ann Landers? You never see anything from the male's point of view. We're on this planet, too. You admit that most men have a stronger sex urge than women, but you don't say what we're supposed to do about it. When you advise girls to thwart the male's biological demands, you encourage sex-repressed neurotics.

We wouldn't have so much divorce if we didn't have so many fumbling, inexperienced men. The modern, impotent male has been robbed of his confidence by prudish girls who take advice from dizzy old maids like you. —The Realist.

Now It's Your Turn

Dear Realist: Now it's your turn to duck, Buster.

Most males have a stronger sex urge — so what? Ever hear of self-control? Civilized people are expected to curb their instincts and operate above the animal level. What you consider "biological" is a gift intended for procreation and uniting man and woman, spiritually and emotionally.

Do you want a wife who has provided experience so that some male would not become a sex-repressed neurotic? The boys who holler loudest about wanting a virtuous girl are the ones who preach this "realist" garbage.

If it's realism you want I wish you could read my mail from pregnant girls who bought your line. This dizzy old maid (who has been married over 20 years) intends to keep on handing out the same advice — and she hopes someone listens.

Dear Ann: My husband's brother and his wife are mad at us. Please tell me if you think we are at fault.

They phoned us recently from Yellowstone Park and said "We'll be dropping in on you soon." We tried to get them to be more specific but they wouldn't say which day. Last night we came home from a bingo party at 2:30 a.m. They were asleep in their car in front of the house. When we woke them up they were both furious. "We phoned us," you'd be expecting us," my sister-in-law said coldly. "This is some welcome."

They said we should have been able to judge their time of arrival. They only stayed two days and we didn't have much fun. Do you think we were at fault? — Gladys and Max.

No Rug in Sight

Dear G. and M.: Guests who refuse to be more specific shouldn't be mad when the red rug is nowhere in sight. They had no right to expect you to stay at home and wait for them. People who want to fall in and scream "surprise" run the risk of being surprised.

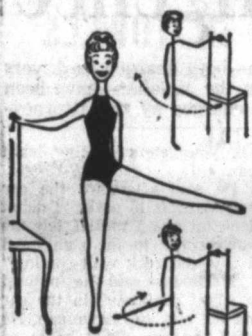

Dear Ann: My boy friend is very nice looking except for one thing. He is missing a front tooth. I've tried to get him to have this taken care of, but he tells me if I really loved him it wouldn't matter. (He sort of whistles when he says the letter S, too.)

We've had several arguments about this because it does spoil his looks. I told him if he needed money for a dentist I'd lend it to him, but isn't that at all. He says it's a matter of pride now. Why is he so stubborn? What can I do about it? — Cathy.

Dear Cathy: This is more than stubborn — and it has nothing to do with pride. He's afraid to go to the dentist. If you can get him to go to a dentist and just talk about the procedure (time, price, etc.) it would be a step in the right direction.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

NEVER TOO LATE TO THEM—How many times this summer have you resolved to trim your hips or thighs, or both? Have you done it?

If planning to wear fall's slimmer fashions, dandies had best get busy. At least a month of daily exercise is required for slicing off only an inch or two. As mighty sharp and double-edged routines, try these:

(Start all, standing with left profile to a high-backed chair, an arm's length from it; hold onto chair with nearest hand for balance.)

1. Kick left leg directly forward and backward, 20 times without stopping; repeat with opposite leg. Work slowly, but with "shaking" force.

2. For 20 counts, swing right leg forward and backward in a semi-circle—as high and as far as possible. Turn right profile to chair and repeat with left leg. Begin slowly and strive for increased speed.

3. Pointing toes, swing right leg straight up and out to side; return to starting position and repeat 20 times. Turn right profile to chair and continue with left leg. Make all actions slow and rhythmic.

P.S.: These routines reduce flabbiness as well as flesh!

Creamy Pumpkin Pie

Indians Taught Us All About Pumpkins

Centuries ago a Chinese cook gave this recipe for preparation of pumpkin. "Cut the pumpkin into slices and let stand in the juice of golden limes. Beat to a sea foam the whites of two eggs and make into a paste with the yellow of one rice flower of cinnamon. Dip each slice of pumpkin into the paste and fry in sesame oil to the color of gold. Sprinkle with powdered Li-chee nuts and sugared ginger and eat while smoking hot."

It could be that Marco Polo tasted this exotic dish at the Court of Cathay while American Indians were planting pumpkins in the midst of their corn.

In any event, our early settlers learned about pumpkins from the Indians. Because the variety of foods was limited, they became one of the dietary staples and many different methods of preparation were used — among them pumpkin pie.

Everyone we know has a favorite pumpkin pie. Here's the recipe for ours.

CREAMY PUMPKIN PIE

One cup canned pumpkin, 1 1/4 cups evaporated milk, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/4 teaspoon ginger, 1 package vanilla instant pudding mix, 1 baked and cooled 8-inch pie shell. Whipped cream.

Combine pumpkin, milk, salt, and spices in a bowl. Add pudding mix. Beat slowly with an egg-beater until well mixed, about 1 minute. Pour into pie shell. Chill until set, about 2 hours. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

QUICK PUMPKIN TARTS

1/2 cup light cream, 1/4 cup milk, 1 package vanilla instant pudding mix, 1 1/4 cups canned pumpkin, 2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 5 baked tart shells. Sweetened whipped cream.

Pour cream and milk into a mixing bowl. Add pudding mix, pumpkin, spice, and salt and beat with egg beater for 1 minute, or until well mixed. Pour immediately into baked tart shells. Let stand 15 minutes to set. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream. Makes 5 tarts.

Strontium-90 Highest In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — A UBC physicist, Dr. G. M. Griffiths, said Tuesday that the amount of Strontium-90 in milk here hit a "surprisingly high level" in May before it decreased.

The national average of Strontium-90 found in milk from January to June this year was 14.7 micro-micro curies per gram of calcium.

However, the rate in Vancouver climbed to 46.5 during May — the highest recorded in Canada for that month.

Go On, Have a Potato They're Not Fattening

OTTAWA (CP) — Go on, have a potato. You might even have two. Experts in Canada's Kitchen say potatoes are not fattening.

"Weight is gained only when the total amount of food eaten furnishes more calories than are used up in activity," says the calm introduction to a new publication entitled Potatoes.

The booklet produced by the consumer section of the federal agricultural department—often called Canada's Kitchen—lists more than 50 ways to prepare potatoes.

From one page to another it boasts the prestige of the lowly spud.

To ease the minds of the calorie-counters, the booklet says that one medium-sized potato supplies about 100 calories. But a moderately-active man needs about 3,000 calories a day, a moderately-active woman about 2,400, on the basis of the Canadian dietary standard average daily requirements.

The food experts say Canada's food rules list the daily minimum amounts to provide the required protein, minerals and vitamins, but not the total calories needed to meet the Canadian standard.

In other words, there is a gap between the daily minimum of food and the dietary standard which might well be made up in part by an extra serving of potatoes.

The booklet includes some 30 tested recipes for serving potatoes as a vegetable, and another 20 for using potatoes economically in supper dishes and soups.

The eventful FRONTENAC two-door sedan—one of Ford of Canada's fine cars.

THE EVENTFUL

FRONTENAC

It's an event—Canada's new, trim-size six-passenger car is here!

This is the new car event you've been waiting for! Just 54 inches high, 70 inches wide and 181 sleek inches handsome, the eventful Frontenac is as Canadian in looks as its name implies. The glamorous grille and gleaming maple leaf accents are exclusive. From every angle this car is distinctive. ♦ Beautiful—and roomy, too—the trim new Frontenac seats six people in comfort... offers over 23 cubic feet of trunk space... turns around in just 38 feet... delivers over thirty miles to the gallon of regular gas! ♦ How all this beauty, roominess and gas-saving economy in one car? Through a completely new approach to car design. A better type of single-unit construction keeps weight under 2400 pounds and performance sparkling. The Frontenac body is both light and strong—because every section is a structural member. Built to last—because points normally susceptible to rust are undercoated with zinc. Single-unit construction also keeps the eventful Frontenac amazingly rattle-free and whisper-silent inside. It's a car you can be proud to own. ♦ You can be proud of your good sense, too, because the all-new 90 hp Frontenac six-cylinder engine has Short-Stroke design; takes you and five passengers more than thirty enjoyable miles to the gallon of gas. The powerful new heater doesn't use up gasoline, either. You save on oil, because the eventful Frontenac has a Full-Flow oil filter that lets you drive up to 4000 miles between oil changes. Whether you choose standard manual shift, or lively new automatic, your Frontenac will be fun to drive... and truly economical. ♦ Until you actually ride in its six-passenger roomy body... appreciate its quick response and safe, sure stopping power... and start saving every mile you drive, you just can't know how altogether eventful the Frontenac is. ♦ Until now, you couldn't enjoy all these advantages in one car. But today is different. This is the new car event you've been waiting for—and its name is Frontenac. At your local Meteor dealer. Certain features illustrated or mentioned are standard on some models, optional at extra cost on others.

Ike May Act Today

Steel: 'Hopeless'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steel negotiators despaired Wednesday of reaching a peace pact on the eve of President Eisenhower's apparent deadline for government intervention in the 85-day strike.

President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers Union, saying a negotiated settlement seemed hopeless, sent the union's 170-man wage-policy committee home. The group would have to approve any new contract.

Eisenhower said a week ago he wanted a settlement by the time he returns to Washington today.

McDonald said that if Eisenhower invokes the Taft-Hartley Law and seeks to stop the strike for 80 days under a court injunction, the union will fight the injunction in the courts.

But if an injunction is issued, the steelworkers will obey, he said.

Dock Strike Action Set

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (CP) — President Eisenhower announced yesterday he will seek a Taft-Hartley Act injunction to halt the longshoremen's strike on the United States east and gulf coasts for 80 days.

Khrushchev Says:

Summit Possible In Fall or Winter

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev says a summit conference may be called this fall or winter.

The Soviet premier made the passing reference to an East-West summit meeting in a speech Tuesday at Vladivostok, Russia's Far Eastern city, on his way home from Red China.

U.S. State Secretary Christian A. Herter said in Washington Tuesday that a date had not been set.

Khrushchev said he had had "rather frank talks" with President Eisenhower, whom he described as "a wise man."

He quoted the president as saying in their Camp David, Md., talks last month that he was a military man and very much afraid of war.

"Only an unreasonable person" Khrushchev added, "can be fearless of war in our days."

Lunik Soars Beyond The Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass announced the Russians' Lunik III soared to a point 78,750 miles from the moon and kept going Wednesday on a course that will swing it past the earth in 11 days.

The little flying laboratory, which some scientists had speculated was due back this weekend, will sail on in space until Saturday and then turn back at a point 291,870 miles from the earth, the Soviet news agency said.

G. G. Green Funeral Saturday

Funeral services for Gerald George Green, 67, well-known in Victoria Masonic circles and a resident of Victoria for 46 years, will be held at 3:15 p.m. Saturday, from McCall's funeral home.

Mr. Green, who was born in Norfolk, England, died Tuesday in Vancouver.

He was the first district deputy grand master of Victoria Lodge 21, AF & AM, and a past grand master of Britannia Lodge.

A member for many years of Fairfield United Church, Mr. Green served as chairman of the board of stewards for 14 years, and was a former Sunday school superintendent.

He served with the Royal Flying Corps during the First World War.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Geoffrey Mason, 5227 Delmonte Avenue; three grandchildren; eight brothers, Paul, Stanley, Harold and Ivan of Victoria; Wilfred and Athol of Seattle; Herbert in Australia; and Raymond in England; two sisters, Miss Kate Green of Victoria, and Mrs. Emmie Boyle in England.

Progressive Artists Still Progressing

Hotel Bosses 'Responsible' For Drunks

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hotel operators are responsible for anyone who gets drunk on their premises, says Rev. William Hills of Victoria.

"And I believe it is the responsibility of hotel proprietors and managers to see no one is allowed to exceed their capacities," the Cadboro Bay Anglican minister told the B.C. Hotels Association convention.

Mr. Hills was a substitute speaker, replacing Premier Bennett.

The Progressive Artists are still progressing.

For Friday and Saturday of this week at "The Scene," 1306 Wharf Street, they announce another first.

Entertainment on these two evenings will feature an "off-Broadway Revue." Booked into Vancouver's Arctic Club for a week, the same show ran a whole month.

Leading light is Tom Vickers who has with him Anita Ludovic, Charlene Brandolini and Dorothy Cook.

Miss Cook, who played a lead in "The Bells Are Ringing" for Theatre Under the Stars this summer, is a native of Duncan and has made numerous appearances in Victoria.

Music at "The Scene" Friday and Saturday will be dispensed by the Buddy Glover Trio with Mr. Glover on piano, Gerry Adams on drums and Ken Hole on bass.

Garden Notes

Moving Day in Back Yard

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

There are a lot of small trees, shrubs and perennials in my garden which should really be moved this fall. Some of the perennials are overgrown and crowded, and should be taken up, divided and replanted.

Some of the shrubs are in the wrong place and should be shifted, and a few of them are errors in judgment on my part—inferior varieties, which will be palmed off on some unsuspecting neighbors and replaced with better kinds.

Like so many lazy gardeners, I have been putting off this major operation in favor of golf, fishing and just plain loafing, but with the long Thanksgiving weekend coming up, I'm afraid I'm "for it." If you see a sadly crippled creature hobbling up Yates Street next Tuesday, that'll be me!

You hear lots of arguments as to whether such transplanting is better done in the spring or the fall. Generally speaking, I figure that fall-blooming plants are best moved in the spring, while the spring and summer bloomers move best in the fall. The great majority of plants will move equally safely in either season.

There is no need to wait until the leaves have actually fallen from your trees and shrubs and perennials as soon as the fresh green color of the foliage age begins to dull or turn, it is a sign that the leaves have completed their work for this season, and the sooner you get cracking, the better.

It is rather foolish to dig up a plant and bring it into a new hole without doing something to improve the texture of the soil and its food supply. The plant will be in its new home for a long, long time, and it is a lot easier to get the alterations done to its future residence BEFORE it moves in rather than messing around its roots afterward.

When I shift a plant or shrub, I start by taking out the planting hole, making sure it is the correct depth and wide enough to take all the roots without any cramming, for a root tip doubled back on itself or turned up at the toe will invariably die back.

Next job is to enrich the fill-in soil. I mix peat moss, nicely dampened, with the excavated soil at the rate of one-third peat to two-thirds soil. When thoroughly mixed, this gives a lovely, velvety texture to the soil, and the plant roots reveal in it. Next, I add a balanced fertilizer such as Vigoro to my pile of soil at the rate of one-half cupful to each bucket of soil mixture.

The plant to be moved is eased gently out of the soil by levering up with a digging fork from several different angles. It is moved quickly, together with the ball of soil around its roots, to the new hole, and the prepared soil mixture is filled in around its outside circumference, making sure the planting depth is substantially the same as before.

When the filling-in is about two-thirds accomplished, take time out to pour some water in the hole, regardless of how moist the soil may be. The purpose of this water is not to satisfy the plant's thirst, but is purely mechanical—to bring the soil into close and intimate contact with the plant roots. Water does a much better job of firming the soil than you could possibly do with your fingers, or even your feet.

As I have mentioned before, I believe it pays to add a few drops of Vitamin B1 to the water used in transplanting. This chemical, thiamin chloride, seems to act as a specific against transplanting shock, much as blood plasma cushions the shock of a surgical operation. Another preparation called Transplantone serves the same purpose, and provides a little quick-acting fertilizer to boot. When the water drains away, complete the filling-in, but leave the soil loose and dry on top. Don't go stomping it down, as so many garden books will advise, for the water has done all the firming necessary, and the loose, dry texture permits air to enter, hastening the establishment of the plant in its new home.

The Viewing World

Dodgers vs. Green Sox

I see no sense in color television for baseball. This opinion, mind you, comes from a guy who loves color television. Color TV for Dinah Shore, or even for Milton Berle, yes—but I have never seen color out of doors that worked at all well. The color values change from minute to minute; the pitchers turn from green to bright pink; the grass looks phony. And for what? I keep asking myself.

To sell sets is the obvious answer. Except that it doesn't sell sets. (As far as I can see, nothing sells color TV sets. They could have one-cent sales and it wouldn't do any good.) But even if a man were disposed to buy a set, a baseball game might change his mind. It's the worst thing you could show him. Color TV is best close to its subject and naturally at a baseball game the cameras are a long way from Luis Aparicio, whose play is not improved in color. And, even if it were good, color is just a distraction from a good ball game.

Otherwise, I found the camera work in Chicago excellent and in Los Angeles pretty bad. The cameras in Los Angeles didn't follow the ball and didn't even give you much of a view of the infielders or outfielders who were chasing the ball. The only way I had of knowing how hard the ball was hit was from the announcer and I'd rather see these things myself.

Vince Scully, who has been calling the Dodger games for years, and Jack Brickhouse, the Chicago caller for the White Sox, are both doing a fine, un-hysterical job of announcing the games.

It's been a good season for old-fashioned burlesque. In "Small World,"

In "It?"—one of the NBC specials—Art Carney and Hermione Gingold contributed a funny spoof of "Separate Tables" and later of Ed Murrow's "Small World." Maybe satire is coming back. I devoutly hope so. Edie Adams was also on the premises, brightening them considerably with a couple of songs but mostly with that face which just seems so full of the joy of living.

Jack Benny is also back for his tenth season with a new sponsor, Lux, replacing Lucky Strikes, which formed the basis for most of the jokes. It was an easygoing show, a bit slow in spots, with Dennis Day's deadpan delivery getting the biggest laughs. It's on at a new time, CBS-TV, 10 p.m. incidentally. Next week, George Gobel will be holding that spot down, and the week after Benny will be back with his guest, Harry Truman.

Hollywood Today

Brando Netting Giant 'Grosses'

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Marlon Brando, who invented the "gross" form of payment, will receive $750,000 and 10 per cent of the gross profits from "The Ugly American." It was even more for "The Fugitive King"—10 per cent and $1,000,000. Marlon will tear himself away from France Nuyen in New York this week, to come here to compress his 34-hour-long "One Eyed Jacks" movie into something like three hours.

Movies get more startling all the time. The opening scene in John O'Hara's "From the Terrace" shocker will show the hero's mother drunk. Director Mark Robson starts the heels rolling next month.

Dick Powell, somewhat rested after his session in the hospital—wife Julie Allison "threw him in there before he collapsed"—wants to give up acting entirely (he does

Eddie Fisher decided on a smaller house, five minutes from the Desert Inn, Las Vegas, because Liz's sons by Michael Wilding are in school in New York and she didn't want to bring them out to the coast.

Chuck Heston will claim, justifiably, to be an authority on America when he finishes his 20-city tour for "Ben Hur." "I do one-day stands, meet the press, the people, the opinion-makers, and see the U.S.A.," he told me before taking off for Denver, Dallas, New Orleans. But the "Ben Hur" world traveller is Harat Halevi, the sultry Israeli actress. She is putting in a solid year selling "Ben Hur."

Rex Harrison, who has been feeling ill, missed the christening in London of granddaughter Cathryn, daughter of son Noel. The late Kay Kendall was to have been the baby's godmother. Noel is Rex's son from his first marriage.

Opening lead: 7

This is a hand from the semi-finals of the Eastern knock-out team-of-four championship. The margin of victory for the eventual winners was 4 "International Match Points" (an IMP is roughly equivalent to 100 total points). The victors gained 6 points on this hand alone.

Norman Kay, of Philadelphia, declarer for the winning team, made his contract due to careful play. After taking the diamond lead with dummy's king, he led the heart king. East won with the ace, and returned a diamond. Norman took the diamond ace, and led the spade four. West properly played low, and Norman didn't make the mistake of putting up dummy's king. He played low, and East won his singleton ace.

The hand is now cold. No matter what East leads, declarer can pitch two small clubs on the queen and jack of hearts, and still have enough trumps in dummy to ruff his losing diamonds.

At the other table, East opened the bidding with one club. It proved a wise move. North and South reached the four-spade contract, but could not make it with an opening club lead. They lost one club, one heart and two spade tricks for down one.

BYRON PRICE LOT CENTRE

1214 QUADRA STREET We have specialized in obtaining better lot listings. If you are going to build a new home there is nothing that will protect your investment more than the proper lot and its location. From our experience in the development of better lots in Victoria, we are in a position to advise you of better building sites and their future. Some of our developments are: Sherwood Oaks, Alpine Crest, Camrose, San Juan, Huntington Park, Shoreline, Woodmont, Pacific Ridge, etc. From the results of independent surveys that have been taken, we have a good idea of the probable increase in value of land. This increase in value on a home built on a good lot is even greater. 2-BR home built in Sherwood Oaks has increased in price as high as 30% in 12 months. We refrain from handling lots in the poorer districts because a home built on these lots will not hold its value. This has been borne out by the difference in price between a home built on a good lot and one built on a poor lot. We are sure that the public is aware of the importance of their future home as an investment. Here are two choice lots in areas where the land values are increasing at the greatest rates in Victoria. SAN JUAN, EV 3-1115, $1350. High location, large lot, percolation tested, no rock. SHERWOOD OAKS, EV 3-2009, $2950. Call for details. See at 830 Darwin Rd. EV 4-1922

Announcing Meteor for 1960

Canada's idea car of the year—and looks it!

So outstanding is Meteor's originality for 1960 that out of the twelve models in four series, there are three distinctive roof stylings! From glamorous grille to taillight grouping, Meteor is unmistakably Canadian. Every clean-flowing line is pure-bred function—and its beauty tells you so! Power is just as new! Both Tempest V-8's and the famous Econ-O-Fuel Six deliver maximum power at speeds you drive most. Standard engines purr best on regular grade gasoline—and save up to five cents a gallon. New full-flow oil filter lets you drive up to 4,000 miles between oil changes. Comfort and convenience is new! Wide new doors permit easy entry and exit. New seats are at comfortable height with foam cushioning standard on front seats. There's more head room, leg room, and shoulder room for true six-passenger roominess. Riding comfort is new. Miles fade away and bumps vanish under Meteor's new front suspension, and wider-tread wheels. New self-levelling rear suspension keeps stop-and-start driving smooth and level. Meteor's new brakes are largest in its field—25% larger! In every way, Meteor is Canada's idea car of the year. And not only looks it—but acts it! See the most distinctive Meteor ever—at your local Meteor dealer's.

Poor Cafe Threat to Industry

EDMONTON (CP) — The substandard restaurant operator is the greatest threat to the Canadian food industry, Hugh Craig, vice-president of the Canadian Restaurant Association, said Wednesday. He was speaking in a panel discussion at the annual Canadian Tourist Association conference.

"Food merchandising is one of the most cruelly competitive businesses there is today," Mr. Craig said. "Every year brings forth another crop of hardy souls who feel they know exactly what the public wants to eat—50 per cent of them never survive their first year in business."

He said the substandard operator "has no working knowledge of capital, food and labor costs and creates an embarrassing situation for the legitimate operator."

A restaurant association with a program to help the new operator overcome business difficulties was the most effective guard of a high food standard.

Mr. Craig, owner of several restaurants in Alberta, said operators must develop strong training programs for staffs, with emphasis on public relations and attitudes.

Leslie Parkinson of Montreal urged delegates to develop strong national or regional dishes.

'Golden Voice' Dead at 38

Heart Attack Fatal to Lanza

ROME (AP)—Mario Lanza, a golden-voiced boy from Philadelphia's "Little Italy" who encountered undreamed-of woes at the peak of his climb from rags to riches, died Wednesday at 38. Death was due to a heart attack.

On the way up from the role of piano mover and truck driver, he made more than $1,000,000 a year. Toscanini called his the greatest voice of the 20th century.

The tenor liked being called the reincarnation of Caruso. His film "The Great Caruso" grossed among the highest financial returns of any musical motion picture.

During his three years residence in Rome, Lanza was in hospital several times for illnesses ranging from a tooth infection to bad colds. He always had difficulty getting his weight down to an acceptable 180 or 185 pounds for movies and concert appearances. Friends said the constant reducing weakened his resistance.

'Debt' Advertising 'Proper Thing to Do'

Premier Bennett said yesterday the $15,000 voted by cabinet order-in-council to pay for advertising in connection with the retiring of B.C.'s net debt was for publication in newspapers of the province of a statement by the provincial controller general declaring B.C. free of direct debt.

He said the majority of the legislature ruled that the controller-general would make such a declaration when the province became free of debt.

"It was a statement of fact. The department of finance in its wisdom decided it was the proper thing to do," the premier said.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan had accused the premier of dipping into the "pocket of every taxpayer in B.C. to make them pay for his vanity in peddling the false story that B.C. is debt-free."

HISTORIC GAME

Although the game was of much earlier origin, the first written rules for cricket were drawn up in England in 1774.

End on Hopeless Note

New Impasse in Steel Talks

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Hope for an early negotiated settlement in the 85-day steel strike seemed dead yesterday. Government use of the Taft-Hartley law appeared the only way to speed 500,000 strikers back to their jobs.

The United Steelworkers Union's 170-member wage policy committee stood by for a morning meeting but there was nothing new to present to the committee.

ers held a 90-minute meeting Tuesday night. It ended on a hopeless note.

Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel Corporation board chairman and spokesman for the industry group said the union is "unalterable in its position."

USW President David J. McDonald, who requested the conference, said industry is "not flexible."

To Serve Your Family Better

Life Dedicated to Beauty

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI)—American critic Bernard Berenson, whose monumental love for life and beauty provided inspiration to three generations of artists, has died at the age of 94.

The world's foremost authority on Italian renaissance art, Berenson had written hundreds of articles, catalogues and books—many of them classics in the field of artistic criticism.

The Lithuanian-born Berenson was the son of poor parents who emigrated to the United States and settled in Boston.

Berenson moved to Europe shortly after his graduation in 1887 and stayed there the rest of his life.

His life was dedicated to seeking out and enjoying the beautiful in nature and in man. So taken up was he with this pursuit that he was able to say of himself, only a few years ago:

"Now I . . . live so much more in the people, the books, the works of art, the landscape than in my own skin, that of self . . . little is left over. A complete life may be on ending in so full an identification with the not-self that there is no self left to die."

The frail, white-bearded critic and connoisseur had been nearing the end for some time. An American friend who saw him recently said he was "like the leaf of a tree turning in autumn, ready to fall to earth."

Berenson died in his villa, surrounded by his treasured works of art, the beautiful gardens outside, and breath-taking view of the Arno River valley.

To Harvard University, his alma mater, he left the paintings, the villa and his library of some 55,000 volumes.

Runaway Convicts Kidnap Three Girls

HELENA, Mont. (UPI)—Three "extremely dangerous and armed" men were feared yesterday to have abducted three teenage girls whom they apparently befriended through a mutual interest in horses.

Two of the men were escaped convicts from California and the third was a California parolee.

Authorities had been told the girls entered the men's car willingly Friday night. But a spokesman at the sheriff's office, who described the girls as "quiet, well behaved and trustworthy," said "there's a strong possibility these kids were abducted."

The disappearance of the girls was kept secret until yesterday for fear the girls would be harmed.

A car answering the description of the men's stolen pink car was seen last night traveling on a dirt road out of town at Arco, Idaho. A service station attendant said he saw three men and three girls in the car.

Green Gives Fallout Plan

Worldwide Study Of Radiation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green Wednesday outlined Canada's plans for a worldwide study on radiation and its implications for human health.

Stating that the radiation proposal has emerged as one of Canada's main contributions to the 14th United Nations General Assembly, the minister said he hopes for co-sponsorship from 12 or 15 countries in this new move in the problems of the atomic era.

WORLD COLLECTION

Green told Canadian correspondents at a press conference Canada's idea comprises inviting the World Meteorological Organization in consultation with the UN scientific committee to recommend arrangements to ensure the worldwide collection of samples required for determining the amounts and rates of radioactive fallout.

This would include, if necessary, the provision of technical assistance to member states. Canada would urge all states to co-operate with the meteorological organization in this work.

GENUINE CONCERN

Green said in answer to questions it is too early to estimate probable costs but that scientists are generally agreed that the radiation issue is of genuine concern around the world.

In a statement outlining two major objectives, he said the proposal seeks:

"To stimulate worldwide interest in a problem that will be with us through the atomic era and to encourage further scientific investigation into the extent of the hazard it may present."

SOLID BASIS

"To suggest a method by which standardized, comparable data can be acquired to form a solid basis for laboratory research into genetic effects."

Inevitably the proposal was linked to disarmament because of fallout from nuclear tests—now suspended by all the big powers—but Green emphasized it stands alone as an attack on a problem of concern to all mankind.

FIRST ATTEMPT

The proposal was a "first attempt" and would bring together the efforts of the World Meteorological and the UN Food and Agriculture Organization FAO. The WMO would recommend measures of collection of data on atmospheric fallout and the FAO would assume a similar function in respect to sample of soil and food.

Minister Flays Evil In Son's Pool Win

SOUTHPORT, England (UPI)—A Methodist preacher, whose son won nearly $19,000 in a football pool, said Wednesday he will preach against the winnings next Sunday and that "if I get hold of the money I will throw it away."

Edward Hooton, a gas board clerk who doubles here as local preacher, was horrified by his 15-year-old son Kenneth's winnings.

Kenneth and 23 of his friends at an RAF air base formed a syndicate.

"Half my sermon next Sunday will be devoted to the evils of football pools," said his father.

"I am dead against them and always have been. I don't believe it. My son would never go in for football pools."

Kenneth tried to explain:

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. atomic chief John A. McCone announced Wednesday he will make a 10-day tour of non-military Russian nuclear facilities as part of an exchange plan "for the betterment of mankind."

New Stand

Red China Wants In At Summit

LONDON (UPI)—Diplomatic observers expressed concern yesterday over official hints that Communist China would insist on participating in any future major negotiations between East and West, including a summit meeting.

An indication of this new stand was provided by Prime Minister Chou En-Lai in a policy review appearing in the Peiping party organ, The People's Daily.

The Chinese leader declared that Peiping "must have the right to participate in any important international issue which concerns her own interests of the world."

Chou did not elaborate, but the wording of his terse comment suggested that Red China now wants a say in all major international issues and not merely in talks concerning her.

Labor Talks 'Rigged'

Provincial Liberal leader Ray Perrault charged yesterday that the current B.C. Federation of Labor convention in Vancouver "was rigged by the ambitious CCF politicians in the labor movement to swing the trade union treasury behind the CCF." (See other stories on Page 3.)

Mr. Perrault was bitter about the news "that a majority of the official delegates of the B.C. Federation of Labor have pledged support to the CCF party for the next B.C. provincial election."

"The convention was carefully stage-managed. Speakers included CCF House leader Hazen Argue and other CCF speakers monopolized the convention," Mr. Perrault said. He added that he had attended some of the sessions as an observer, but was not invited to say one word.

The proclamation banned demonstrations and gatherings in Baghdad.

The unsuccessful attempt on Kassem's life was made yesterday while he was being driven through a Baghdad street.

A medical bulletin issued several hours after the shooting said the 45-year-old premier suffered only a flesh wound and a fractured shoulder. It said he was struck by "three bullets in non-vital parts of his body."

Shortly after the shooting, the military governor imposed a curfew on the entire city.

The attempt came only two weeks after serious riots broke out in Iraq in protest against the execution of 17 persons accused of plotting a revolt against Kassem's 14-month regime.

Brains Forecast

Nip, Tuck Election

By S. F. MANOR
Special to The Colonist

LONDON—While lunching at one of the famous colleges at Oxford Tuesday I was allowed a glimpse at the betting book kept in the Common Room, where, at 35 cents a bet, the distinguished professors have forecast today's election results. See page 8.

Only two have forecast a working majority for either party—one a majority of 30 for Conservatives that would halve the present Tory majority and one a majority of 30 for Labor.

All other forecasts were of a stalemate with majorities of six to eight for either party. The highest forecasts for Liberals were of ten and eleven seats both made by prominent Oxford Liberals.

Meanwhile, Wednesday has dawned again sunny, dry and warm, although some rain is promised for today's voting in the western half of the country.

Rain generally means a smaller Labor turnout and there will undoubtedly be fervent prayers for rain in many a marginal Tory constituency.

Attack on Formosa 'Likely' Means A-War

NEW YORK (UPI)—Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon bluntly warned the Chinese Communists yesterday that an attack on Formosa would "likely" start a world nuclear conflict.

Dillon issued the warning in a major speech in which he also read a message from President Eisenhower calling for "constant vigilance" in the Far East to preserve peace.

Dillon spoke before the Far East-American Council of Commerce and Industry.

In a bitter attack on Communist China, he said the Peiping regime has shown "absolutely no disposition to make the slightest move toward an agreement on a cease-fire (in the Formosa Straits), or a renunciation of force."

Dillon noted Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's pledge to settle international problems by peaceful means and warned that the Kremlin must "share responsibility for Peiping's actions."

B.C. Win First Step

By ALEC MERRIMAN

Social Crediters from all over British Columbia have in the past few weeks started grass roots reorganization of all federal constituency associations as a build-up for a determined bid to get Social Credit elected as the official opposition, if not the ruling party in the next general federal election.

And it is felt likely, in some quarters that Premier W. A. C. Bennett will be sought as national leader to replace Solon Low when the national Social Credit party holds its leadership convention in Ottawa, July 19, 20 and 21.

STRIKING OUT HARD

Although Premier Bennett has said he has no national aspirations, he has in recent months at his press conferences been striking out hard at Prime Minister D. J. Zenaker's Conservative government, which has led some observers to believe he may be ready to take one of his well-known second looks and allow himself to be drafted as national leader.

Some observers have suggested that the premier hopes to lead his provincial Social Credit party to a resounding victory at the polls sometime next spring. Then, they reason, he would be in a sound position to hand over the provincial reins and concentrate on developing Social Credit on a national scale. Social Credit in the 1958 election lost all its federal seats.

OUT OF THE WEST

"Canada looks to Social Credit leadership out of the west," George Hahn, former Social Credit MP who is now actively engaged in organizing B.C. Social Credit on the federal level, said yesterday.

He said Premier Bennett and Alberta Premier Manning have both been prominently mentioned for the leadership. But, he added "to the best of my knowledge he (Premier Bennett) has no national aspirations."

FULL SLATE IN B.C.

B.C. Social Credit League president Noel Murphy told The Daily Colonist yesterday "there is no doubt about a full slate in B.C., Alberta, Manitoba and probably Saskatchewan."

He said in Quebec, where Social Credit fielded no candidates in the 1958 general election, Social Crediters "are really going to town."

"There will be a full slate of candidates from Quebec," Continued on Page 6

B.C. Yards Cheated Bennett Charges

B.C. shipyards are being short-changed by the federal government, Premier Bennett charged yesterday.

He said that because of higher rates on the west coast, the federal government collects a high proportion from individuals in income tax and that it should take that fact into consideration when it comes to accepting ship and other tenders.

The premier said he would take the matter up again when he visits Ottawa for a federal-provincial finance minister's conference next week.

"I've seen them in California and they're starving to death."

He said he would like to see the liquor laws changed so people outside can see through beer parlor windows.

And the association would like to replace the present licensed premises signs with ones that say what is sold inside.

B.C. Pubs Losing Out to TV

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. J. Custock, president of the British Columbia Hotels Association, said Wednesday more and more of B.C.'s drinkers are apparently staying home to watch television.

In an interview Mr. Custock, who says he has been observing drinkers for 50 years, said drinking habits are no worse today than in the past.

"In fact, I think there is a little less drinking in the taverns and more social drinking around the TV at home."

The hotels association is meeting in annual convention here.

On other liquor matters Mr. Custock said he does not think the cozy corner English-style pub is possible in B.C.—there is not enough profit in them.

If You See a Flying Saucer —Please Take a Picture

DUNCAN — Attention, saucer spotters: Next time you see something that could be a flying saucer, please take a picture of it!

So far in the Cowichan area more than 20 persons have seen unidentified flying objects but none have taken pictures of them.

A check last night by the Colonist not only revealed that there weren't any photos, it also brought to light three more persons who saw the mysterious objects.

The quest for a picture started after Dr. R. M. Petrie, head of the Dominion Astro-

physical Observatory at Saanich, commented Tuesday that Cowichan residents are "seeing something" but that it was "too bad" no pictures had been taken.

V. L. Stanley-Jones, Richard's Trail, said last night that such comments make people reluctant to reveal what they may see.

"If someone saw a space ship and saw its passengers, we on earth would be scared stiff of saying what we saw in case we were thrown in the booby hatch," he said yesterday.

Mr. Stanley-Jones also said

Attention Cowichan!

he expects some "authority" will eventually stop the Colonist's reports on the sightings.

The latest reports came from Raymond Smith, Cowichan Station, and his mother, Yvonne, and a sister, Sonia, who saw "many-colored" objects but kept quiet because they anticipated unfavorable public opinion.

They saw an object about 2:30 p.m. Sept. 27. It was the morning after Mr. Stanley-Jones reported what he thought could have been two space-ships collide and crash over Richard's Mountain.

"It was two or three times the size of any star and sort of flashed red, purple and blue colors, one after the other," said Mr. Smith. "I almost drove off the road when I saw it." He was returning from a party.

He woke his mother and sister who watched it "hover"

in the sky for about an hour south of them. They said they went inside while the object was still in view, and went to bed.

Three days later, L. F. Solly, of Westholme, said he saw an "orange-red" object which was joined by many others that moved south at varying speeds.

"At Chemainus R. W. Clegg, a night watchman at the British Columbia Power Commission generating plant at Bare Point, also saw the objects. More than 15 persons have so far reported seeing "objects" in the sky the same evening

Increase Asked by Teachers May Cost Cowichan $115,020

DUNCAN — Teachers in School District 65 (Cowichan) have asked for salary increases for next year that would cost taxpayers $115,020, trustee Wilf Peck said yesterday.

Mr. Peck said that the requested increase of salaries for principals as well as teachers would be about 18.6 per cent over last year's wages.

He said it would add about three mills to the school taxes. The increase would not be shareable with the provincial government, said Mr. Peck.

Nanaimo

Booming Ground Opposed

NANAIMO — Protest has been made to the Lands Department against converting Departure Bay, a favorite picnic and swimming spot in this area, into a temporary booming ground.

Departure Bay Ratepayers' Association voted unanimously to protest against an application by Fred Dorman, president of Bay Industries Ltd., for a licence to boom logs on the shoreline near Hammond Bay Road.

Ratepayers felt the logs would be a hazard to children who use the beach area. Mr. Dorman said booming would only go on for a maximum of six months.

Outstanding Duncan Kinsman

Outstanding Duncan Kinsman of the year, Howard Filmer, left, was presented with the club's Brass Hat trophy and a special lapel pin to mark 10 years membership without missing one meeting. Presenting the awards is Bill Fuller, president of the club. Mr. Filmer also received a scrapbook to commemorate his recent term as District Deputy Governor of the Island zone. Duncan Kinsmen Praised DUNCAN — Retiring Kinsmen Club president Clyde Porter has commended club members for more than 4,000 man-hours of labor they have put in so far to help build the nearly completed grandstand at Pioneer Park. He said it is a worthwhile project that so far has cost $11,856 over the past four years—$4,000 this year.

Officers installed for the year are Bill Fuller, president; Wayne Griffith, vice-president; William Winters, secretary; Bob Irvine, treasurer; James Whitton and Ken Hill, registrars; Trevor Digby and Bob Major, directors; and Pete Henry and Cleve Stenmark, bulletin editors.

Kinette officers are Norma Brownsey, president; Doris Stenmark, vice-president; Joan Irvine and Nadene Hill, secretaries; Pat Digby, treasurer, and Shirley Henry, registrar.

Past-president Howard Filmer, who is also the retiring deputy governor, was presented with the Brass Hat trophy for being the outstanding Kinsman of the year.

Impaired But Careful

NANAIMO — Albert Fraser Butterworth was fined only $75 yesterday for impaired driving.

The comparatively small fine was imposed because Butterworth, aged 24, parked beside the curb at Milton and Nicol Street, Magistrate Harold Hine told him.

"You showed an appreciation to the public by pulling over," the magistrate said. He suspended Butterworth's licence for 10 days.

Awards Day Set by School

The fifth annual awards day of the Royal Oak Junior-Senior High School will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the school gymnasium.

Students will be presented with scholarship, citizenship and athletic awards won during the past school year.

Mayor Stands to Lose If Nanaimo Drive Lags

NANAIMO — Mayor Pete Maffeo has an added interest in the annual Red Feather campaign—he stands to lose a salmon or win a box of McIntosh apples.

He has bet Mayor J. E. Fitzwater, of Kamloops that Nanaimo will raise more money, per capita, than Kamloops.

The Nanaimo target is $54,600. Kamloops is aiming at $40,000.

Councillor Absent

Prickly Gas Issue Delayed in Courtenay

COURTENAY — An absent member of city council this week caused the postponement of a contentious bylaw which would allow service stations to remain open for 24 hours a day.

One city service station operator applied for permission to remain open and 11 of the other 12 operators have opposed it.

One spokesman has claimed that passage of the bylaw could force a gasoline price war in Courtenay.

First and second readings of the bylaw could not be given as one of the councillors was absent, leaving the council with less than the two-thirds majority needed for a binding vote.

It's Blossom Time Again In Chemainus

CHEMAINUS (CP) — It's apple blossom time again in Chemainus.

A woman resident reports her apple tree in blossom for a second time this year — though it's supposed to be fall — and she has also picked some raspberries lately.

Another gardener reports picking several boxes of strawberries.

Nanaimo Driver Hurt

NANAIMO — A car skittered and skidded on the wet highway north of here Tuesday and plunged into a deep ditch, injuring the driver.

Admitted to Nanaimo General Hospital was Mrs. Sharon Brown of Nanaimo. She was the driver and lone occupant of the car, which was totally wrecked.

Mrs. Brown has leg injuries. Accident occurred about two miles from the city.

NANAIMO — Albert Fraser Butterworth was fined only $75 yesterday for impaired driving.

The comparatively small fine was imposed because Butterworth, aged 24, parked beside the curb at Milton and Nicol Street, Magistrate Harold Hine told him.

"You showed an appreciation to the public by pulling over," the magistrate said. He suspended Butterworth's licence for 10 days.

Strange Lights in Sky? Well, Victorians Doubt It

Strange lights in the sky? Sure. Flying saucers? Nonsense! That appears to be the attitude of most Victorians towards reports of "saucer" sightings in the Cowichan area and, Tuesday night, in Victoria. Most Victorians, but not all. For instance, Dave Hutchinson of 1319 Point was one of a number asked yesterday if they believed in flying saucers, and he replied, "Why not?" He had never seen a flying saucer, he said, "but lots of people say they have, and how else can you explain some of these things?" At the other extreme—with a lot of company—was Jim Stothard, 2251 Cadboro Bay Road: "No, I don't. I never go up to Duncan."

Everyone was willing to accept that peculiar lights had been seen in the sky, but most said they believed the lights were "meteors or something," or "phenomena of some sort, but not flying saucers," or "perhaps aircraft or missiles being tested," or just optical illusions. Optical illusion, of sorts, was the explanation offered yesterday by a Duncan woman, Miss F. M. Draper of Sherman Road, a Ground Observer Corps spotter for six years. Miss Draper said there was no doubt in her mind the mysterious "objects" seen during evening hours recently were nothing but reflections of Vancouver lights, and Vancouver searchlight "spots" among the reflections.

Murder Trial Concluding 'Had It' Said Lusse Slumping to Floor

"If you don't open this door I'll kill you," stormed angry James Lusse, 53, who was slain by a rifle bullet in the heart. "He's going to kill me. He's going to kill me. He's going to kill me," said Mrs. Alice Olive Webber, a widow of many years, who cowered behind a bedroom door with her son. "The gun went off," said the 17-year-old son, Ronald Webber, who sat on his bed with a .22-rifle in his lap.

Accused Youth On Stand

ALL THREE LIVED These were some of the things said last May 23 at 1417 Camosun, where all three lived and where Lusse died, that night, an assize court jury was told here yesterday. It was the second day of the murder trial of Ronald Webber, who said yesterday of the dead man: "I liked him very much."

WEBBER ON STAND Highlight of yesterday's session came when defence counsel Gerald Lauder put young Webber on the stand. Spectators in the nearly-filled public gallery strained to hear as the boy, in his well-modulated, mature but low voice, recounted the events that ended with Lusse lying dead on a bedroom floor.

The narrative began with the arrival home early in the evening of Mrs. Webber and Lusse, both of whom had been drinking. "I've had it" It ended with Lusse saying with a groan, before he slumped to the floor: "I've had it."

Lusse and Mrs. Webber were in the kitchen where Lusse was fixing supper and "I was in the living room watching TV," the youth said. "They got into an argument. I couldn't hear exactly what they said... but I think it was about me."

PICKED UP WATCH Mrs. Webber came into the living room and picked up Lusse's watch. "He came out and slapped her and said: 'If you don't leave my property alone. I will kill you," Webber told the court, adding that Lusse was "very angry, almost yelling."

TURNUED ON TAP Mrs. Webber, who was on the stand earlier, said that Lusse had forced her head in the washbasin and turned on the cold tap. Shortly afterward his mother phoned the police, he said, and then told Lusse: "You'd better pack your things."

Webber said that after Lusse left with a policeman "I went downstairs and locked the basement doors and windows so Jimmy couldn't get in."

NAILED WINDOWS He also nailed some windows shut and put an extra hook and eye catch on the basement garage doors, accused said. Then he went up stairs and locked all the doors and windows he could.

"But I couldn't lock the door coming up from the basement—the lock was painted over. I tried to wedge a chair against it, but couldn't."

At this point, Webber said he saw Lusse pull up in his car outside.

LOCKED DOOR "I ran into my bedroom and locked the door and then I heard him crash in the basement door."

"Then I heard him coming up the stairs. He came to my room and pounded on the door."

Lusse shouted through the door, Webber said: "You think you're smart locking the doors on me. But no one does that to me and gets away with it."

With that, Lusse returned to the basement. "I opened the door then," said Webber, "and got Mom to come in my bedroom."

FOUNDED ON DOOR "Jimmy returned—he must have heard her—and pounded some more on the door and said: "If you don't open this door I'll kill you."

Following that threat, the youth said, he took his .22 rifle from the closet where it was kept and put two shells in it.

He said his mother kept saying, over and over, "He's going to kill me. He's going to kill me."

WARNED HIM "I warned him I had my rifle," Webber said. "I turned out the light and sat on the bed."

"Then the door burst open... I couldn't see anything. "The gun went off."

"I heard him groan and he said 'I've had it' and slumped to the floor."

Webber said he then turned on the light and asked his mother to phone the police. Crown prosecutor Robert Wootton, during cross-examination of Webber, asked why he had reloaded the rifle.

Chemainus Store Burglars Get $2,000 Loot

CHEMAINUS—Thieves who broke into the S. A. Clement drug store early Wednesday failed to open the store safe, but escaped with stock valued at between $1,200 and $2,000.

The thieves tried unsuccessfully to blow the door off the safe and finally left with cameras, lighters and binoculars, leaving a trail of wreckage in their wake.

RCMP officers who attended found the safe, its door partially blown away, lying tilted toward the wall. One cash register had been thrown to the floor and smashed to bits, and records, papers and uniforms belonging to the staff were scattered, water-soaked, over the floor. One sweater, found in shreds near the safe, had been used to muffle the unsuccessful blast. When police finally opened the safe, contents were found to be intact.

Drug and narcotics cabinets in the next room were untouched. The thieves gained entrance by forcing the rear door with a crowbar. Exact loss in the robbery will not be known until stocktaking is completed.

Windermere Rescue Shawnigan Officer Wins Empire Medal

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—Constable Hugh Bowyer, officer in charge of the RCMP detachment here was awarded the British Empire Medal yesterday for his part in a rescue at Windermere in 1955.

He was one of 40 men who helped rescue Albert Portman, buried under a 13-ton pile of gypsum ore. Const. Bowyer was ill with pneumonia for more than two weeks after the rescue. During the rescue the temperature dropped to about 15 degrees he said and "for quite a time we had to dig with our hands."

Portman later fully recovered from his injuries. The 26-year-old police officer was transferred to Shawnigan Lake shortly after he was married in April.

to meet Westerners who we in the East don't know about," he said, explaining his speech was short and halting because it was not in his native French. Mr. Blais also said it made him proud to be the first national president to officially visit Duncan—and because he is a "pea-souper."

Nanaimo Court Polluter Fined $250

NANAIMO (CP)—The chief mate of a Liberian tanker was fined $250 in police court Wednesday when convicted of polluting the harbor with oil.

Magistrate Harold Hine ruled George Schnur, chief mate of the Kloria, was responsible for bunker oil which was spilled into the harbor. The water was polluted after the ship discharged 27,000 gallons of fuel oil into storage tanks Feb. 26.

The 7,972-ton Kloria is registered at Monrovia to Torres Shipping Company Incorporated.

Around the Island B.C. Refuses Fair Loans

COURTENAY—A delegation from the Comox-Courtenay Exhibition Association failed yesterday in an attempt to gain government backing for a revolving loan fund to help finance B.C.'s agricultural fairs and exhibitions.

The delegation, headed by Comox-Courtenay MLA Dan Campbell, conferred in Victoria with provincial Agriculture Minister Newton Steacy. They were seeking the loan fund in place of the present government grant.

Mr. Steacy said his department was unable to institute such a program under existing legislation and because of the inability of his department to finance such a venture.

DUNCAN — A minor who claimed he bought some beer from a stranger he met behind a hotel was fined $10 yesterday in Duncan police court.

Richard Farrell, 18, Cowichan Lake Road, pleaded guilty to the charge laid by police after he and two friends were found with three full bottles and one partly empty bottle of beer Sept. 12.

"I'd know him if I saw him again," Farrell told Magistrate A. C. Sutton when asked where he got the liquor. A 17-year-old juvenile who was with Farrell at the time was advised to "wait until you are old enough before you get on beer."

He was put on six months' probation in custody of his father, who told the magistrate, "I didn't know he drank until this came up."

The 16-year-old driver of the car, the third minor, denied the charge of being a minor in possession of alcohol. The case was remanded until the investigating constable, who is in hospital, can give testimony. "I didn't own the beer. I just picked them up and was driving them to a dance," he said.

ALBERNI — A 21-year-old Alberni man won his freedom Monday when County Court Judge L. Arnold Hanna dismissed a breaking and entering charge against him. Held in custody since the preliminary hearing here Aug. 27, Edward Coss was charged in connection with a theft from Bob's Service Station, Beaver Creek Road.

Tara Singh Bains, also charged with the offence, pleaded guilty in police court and was given a suspended sentence.

PORT ALBERNI — Peter Yakymiw, retired Manitoba farmer, died in West Coast General Hospital here Tuesday on his 84th birthday.

Mr. Yakymiw, who farmed for many years at Bread Valley, near Winnipeg, came here five years ago to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. A. Mryglad, 1004 Hollywood Street.

He leaves two other daughters, Mrs. A. Chudy of Winnipeg and Mrs. M. Morgan of Calgary; four sons, John of Chicago, Michael of Vancouver, William and Walter of Broad Valley; 12 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Rev. Glen Eskeverson will conduct funeral services Saturday at 1 p.m. in Stevens' Chapel. Burial will be in Alberni Valley Memorial Gardens.

LADYSMITH — Pioneer residents, Mr. and Mrs. August De Clark, are flying to Belgium, their native land, for a short holiday and reunion with old friends.

They will visit Wygane, Province of West Flanders, the town where they were both born. Mr. DeClark last visited Belgium during the First World War, as a member of the 67th Canadian Scottish, C.E.F.

NANAIMO — The funeral of Arthur S. Barfoot, a Parksville resident for 50 years, will be held Saturday from St. Ann's Anglican church. Mr. Barfoot, a Royal Navy veteran, was 76 years old. The service will commence at 1:30 p.m.

NANAIMO — Insufficient people attended the Vancouver Island (Nanaimo) Exhibition Board's first hobby show to make it pay.

But the board will run another similar show next fall. Just over 1,300 persons visited the show in three days.

PARKSVILLE — Parksville and District Chamber of Commerce will hold its election of officers for the ensuing year Oct. 13 at a meeting in the Island Hall Hotel.

CHEMAINUS — Members of the Arbutus Chapter, IOOE, plan to hold a home-cooking sale tomorrow at their first meeting of the fall season.

$30,000,000 Sold B.C. Bond Buyers Thanked by Bennett

Premier Bennett yesterday thanked the people of British Columbia for over-subscribing the $30,000,000 provincial government issue of PGE parity bonds.

Sale was stopped at 3 p.m. yesterday. The premier said tens and tens of thousands of people from all over the province and from every walk of life bought the bonds. It has been estimated the $400,000 in commissions and advertising to market the bonds.

The premier said selling costs were less than selling costs on a percentage basis than Canada saving bonds.

Webber told the court that he liked Lusse very much, that he used to go out with him and that Lusse got a part-time job for him.

Trial resumes in the courthouse at 10:30 a.m. when both defence and prosecution will give summations of their cases. Following that Mr. Justice Harry J. Sullivan will charge the jury.

A verdict is likely this afternoon.

Socreds Reorganize for Big Push

Fallout

Green Gives Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green Wednesday outlined Canada's plans for a world-wide study on radiation and its implications for human health.

Stating that the radiation proposal has emerged as one of Canada's main contributions to the 14th United Nations General Assembly, the minister said he hopes for co-sponsorship from 12 or 13 countries in this new move in the problems of the atomic era.

WORLD COLLECTION

Green told Canadian correspondents at a press conference Canada's idea comprises inviting the World Meteorological Organization in consultation with the UN scientific committee to recommend arrangements to ensure the world-wide collection of samples required for determining the amounts and rates of radioactive fallout.

GENUINE CONCERN

Green said in answer to questions it is too early to estimate probable costs but that scientists are generally agreed that the radiation issue is of genuine concern around the world.

In a statement outlining two major objectives, he said the proposal seeks:

"To stimulate worldwide interest in a problem that will be with us through the atomic era and to encourage further scientific investigation into the extent of the hazard it may present.

SOLID BASIS

"To suggest a method by which standardized, comparable data can be acquired to form a solid basis for laboratory research into genetic effects."

Inevitably the proposal was linked to disarmament because of fallout from nuclear tests—now suspended by all the big powers—but Green emphasized it stands alone as an attack on a problem of concern to all mankind.

'I'll Preach Against It'

Minister Flays Evil In Son's Pool Win

SOUTHPORT, England (UPI)—A Methodist preacher, whose son won nearly $19,000 in a football pool, said Wednesday he will preach against the winnings next Sunday and that "if I get hold of the money I will throw it away."

Edward Hooton, a gas board clerk who doubles here as local preacher, was horrified by his 18-year-old son Kenneth's winnings.

"I told father I intend to give away most of my winnings to the World Refugee Organization. I will offer some of it to my father's church. I will keep a little of the money myself. I would like to buy a new car but that's about all."

Kenneth and 23 of his friends at an RAF air base formed a syndicate.

Kenneth tried to explain:

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. J. Custock, president of the British Columbia Hotels Association, said Wednesday more and more of B.C.'s drinkers are apparently staying home to watch television.

In an interview Mr. Custock, who says he has been observing drinkers for 50 years, said drinking habits are no worse today than in the past.

"In fact, I think there is a little less drinking in the taverns and more social drinking around the TV at home."

New Stand

Red China Wants In At Summit

LONDON (UPI)—Diplomatic observers expressed concern yesterday over official hints that Communist China would insist on participating in any future major negotiations between East and West, including a summit meeting.

An indication of this new stand was provided by Prime Minister Chou En-Lai in a policy review appearing in the Peiping party organ, The People's Daily.

The Chinese leader declared that Peiping "must have the right to participate in any important international issue which concerns her own interests of the world."

Chou did not elaborate, but the wording of his terse comment suggested that Red China now wants a say in all major international issues and not merely in talks concerning her.

Labor Talks 'Rigged'

Provincial Liberal leader Ray Perrault charged yesterday that the current B.C. Federation of Labor convention in Vancouver "was rigged by the ambitious CCF politicians in the labor movement to swing the trade union treasury behind the CCF." (See other stories on Page 3.)

Mr. Perrault was bitter about the news "that a majority of the official delegates of the B.C. Federation of Labor have pledged support to the CCF party for the next B.C. provincial election."

"The convention was carefully stage-managed. Speakers included CCF House leader Hazen Argue and other CCF speakers monopolized the convention," Mr. Perrault said. He added that he had attended some of the sessions as an observer, but was not invited to say one word.

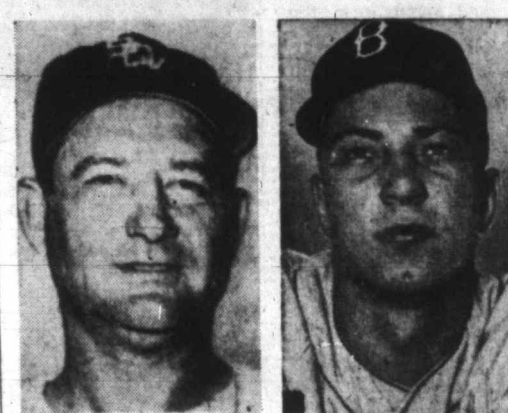

B.C. Yards Cheated Bennett Charges

B.C. shipyards are being short-changed by the federal government, Premier Bennett charged yesterday.

He said that because of higher rates on the west coast, the federal government collects a high proportion from individuals in income tax and that it should take that fact into consideration when it comes to accepting ship and other tenders.

The premier said he would take the matter up again when he visits Ottawa for a federal-provincial finance minister's conference next week.

Brains Forecast

Nip, Tuck Election

By S. F. MANOR

Special to The Colonist

LONDON—While lunching at one of the famous colleges at Oxford Tuesday I was allowed a glimpse at the betting book kept in the Common Room, where, at 35 cents a bet, the distinguished professors have forecast today's election results. See page 8.

Only two have forecast a working majority for either party—one a majority of 30 for Conservatives that would halve the present Tory majority and one a majority of 30 for Labor.

All other forecasts were of a stalemate with majorities of six to eight for either party. The highest forecasts for Liberals were of ten and eleven seats both made by prominent Oxford Liberals.

Meanwhile, Wednesday has dawned again sunny, dry and warm, although some rain is promised for today's voting in the western half of the country.

Rain generally means a smaller Labor turnout and there will undoubtedly be fervent prayers for rain in many a marginal Tory constituency.

Attack on Formosa 'Likely' Means A-War

NEW YORK (UPI)—Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon bluntly warned the Chinese Communists yesterday that an attack on Formosa would "likely" start a world nuclear conflict.

Dillon issued the warning in a major speech in which he also read a message from President Eisenhower calling for "constant vigilance" in the Far East to preserve peace.

Dillon spoke before the Far East-America Council of Commerce and Industry.

In a bitter attack on Communist China, he said the Peiping regime has shown "absolutely no disposition to make the slightest move toward an agreement on a cease-fire (in the Formosa Straits), or a renunciation of force."

Dillon noted Soviet Premier

Nikita Khrushchev's pledge to settle international problems by peaceful means and warned that the Kremlin must "share responsibility for Peiping's actions."

B.C. Win First Step

By ALEC MERRIMAN

Social Crediters from all over British Columbia have in the past few weeks started grass roots reorganization of all federal constituency associations as a build-up for a determined bid to get Social Credit elected as the official opposition, if not the ruling party in the next general federal election.

And it is felt likely, in some quarters, that Premier W. A. C. Bennett will be sought as national leader to replace Solon Low when the national Socred party holds its leadership convention in Ottawa, July 19, 20 and 21.

STRIKING OUT HARD

Although Premier Bennett has said he has no national aspirations, he has in recent months at his press conferences been striking out hard at Prime Minister Diefenbaker's Conservative government, which has led some observers to believe he may be ready to take one of his well-known second looks and allow himself to be drafted as national leader.

Some observers have suggested that the premier hopes to lead his provincial Socred party to a resounding victory at the polls sometime next spring. Then, they reason, he would be in a sound position to hand over the provincial reins and concentrate on developing Social Credit on a national scale. Social Credit in the 1958 election lost all its federal seats.

OUT OF THE WEST

"Canada looks to Social Credit leadership out of the west," George Hahn, former Socred MP who is now actively engaged in organizing B.C. Socreds on the federal level, said yesterday.

He said Premier Bennett and Alberta Premier Manning have both been prominently mentioned for the leadership. But, he added "to the best of my knowledge he (Premier Bennett) has no national aspirations."

FULL SLATE IN B.C.

B.C. Social Credit League president Noel Murphy told The Daily Colonist yesterday "there is no doubt about a full slate in B.C., Alberta, Manitoba and probably Saskatchewan."

He said in Quebec, where Social Credit fielded no candidates in the 1958 general election, Social Crediters "are really going to town."

"There will be a full slate of candidates from Quebec,"

B.C. Pubs Losing Out to TV

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. J. Custock, president of the British Columbia Hotels Association, said Wednesday more and more of B.C.'s drinkers are apparently staying home to watch television.

In an interview Mr. Custock, who says he has been observing drinkers for 50 years, said drinking habits are no worse today than in the past.

"In fact, I think there is a little less drinking in the taverns and more social drinking around the TV at home."

The hotels association is meeting in annual convention here.

On other liquor matters Mr. Custock said he does not think the cozy corner English-style pub is possible in B.C.—there is not enough profit in them.

"I've seen them in California and they're starving to death."

He said he would like to see the liquor laws changed so people outside can see through beer parlor windows.

And the association would like to replace the present licensed premises signs with ones that say what is sold inside.

"Tourists think the signs 'men' and 'women' mean washrooms instead of beer parlors."
